

Virtual Gel Electrophoresis Lab

The screenshot displays the Virtual Gel Electrophoresis Lab interface. On the left, a software window titled "Enter Size Estimates Here" features three input fields, each with a "0000" value and a "bp" unit. To the right of these fields is a gel image with two lanes. The first lane is labeled "DNA Sample" and the second "DNA Size Standard". The standard lane shows five distinct bands with corresponding size markers on the right: 6000 bp, 5000, 4000, 3000, and 2000. In the background, a lab manual is visible with sections for "Objectives", "Materials", and "Procedure". The foreground shows a 3D perspective of the lab setup: a syringe is labeled "Pipette", a box is labeled "Gel box with buffer and gel", and a multi-well plate is labeled "Loading buffer - DNA sample". A "DNA size standard" is also indicated near the plate. A "Power supply" is shown on the right side of the setup.

In this lab students will model the procedure of setting up the gel, loading the DNA samples, assembling the gel apparatus, hooking up the electric current, and finally analyzing the results.
