Gender Work And Family In A Chinese Economic Zone:

Gender, Work, and Family in a Chinese Economic Zone Nancy E Riley, 2012-11-06 This book examines the dynamics of power within the families of married women who have migrated from rural areas to China's Dalian Economic Zone. Engaging the question of whether waged work gives women power in their families, this ethnographic study finds that women do indeed use their new positions and urban status to negotiate their family status. However, women use these new resources not necessarily to promote their own individual liberation but rather to strengthen their contribution as wives and especially as mothers. Thus, this new modernity provides a space for the reinscribing of traditional roles even as it may work to give women new found power within their families. How and why this process occurs is related to the dual inequalities these women face as rural migrants and as women.

Gender and Employment in Rural China Jing Song, 2017-04-21 With China's rapid advancements in urbanization and industrialization, there has been significant labor movement away from agriculture in the rural regions. Using four village case studies, Song examines how this restructuring process affects the rural population. Much of her research is centered on their various perceptions and reactions towards the market reforms. How are their lives reshaped through the employment transition? Along with the changes of family life and the diversification of development models, how do an individual's gender and background play a role in determining employment? These are the broad questions that Song addresses through detailed analysis of four different villages in light of China's move towards decentralization of its rural economy.

Handbook Global History of Work Karin Hofmeester, Marcel van der Linden, 2017-11-20 Coffee from East Africa, wine from California, chocolate from the Ivory Coast: all those everyday products are based on labour, often produced under appalling conditions but always involving the combination of various work processes we are often not aware of. What is the day-to-day reality for workers in various parts of the world and how was it in the past? How do they work today and how did they work in the past? These and many other questions comprise the field of the global history of work, a young discipline that is introduced with this handbook. In 8 thematic chapters, this book discusses these aspects of work in a global and long-term perspective, paying attention to several kinds of work: Convict labour, slave and wage labour, labour migration, and workers of the textile industry but also workers organisation strikes and motivations for work are part of this first handbook of global labour history written by the most renowned scholars of the profession

Low Fertility Regimes and Demographic and Societal Change Dudley L. Poston, Jr., 2017-10-27 This book explores how low fertility levels could fundamentally change a country's population and society. It analyzes the profound effects below average birthrates have on virtually all aspects of society from the economy to religion from marriage to gender roles. An introduction written by Dudley L. Poston Jr. provides a general overview of this relatively new phenomenon that has already impacted nearly one half of the countries of the world today. Poston also discusses the broad implications of the changes that these societies are currently experiencing and the ones that they will soon confront. Next, each of the 12 essays collected in this volume look into how a low fertility level affects a particular demographic or societal structure or process. In addition, case studies offer an in-depth portrait of these changes in the United States and China. Coverage includes the dynamics of low and lowest low where the birthrate is well below average, fertility high and increasing life expectancies in the United States, the implications of native born fertility and other socio-demographic changes for less skilled U.S. immigration, ageing and age dependency in post-industrial societies, good mothering and gender roles in China, the increasing prevalence of voluntary childlessness, how low fertility and prolonged longevity could result in slow economic growth, the decreasing relevance of traditional religious systems and more. The emergence and persistence of population decline produced by low fertility levels has the potential to greatly alter key aspects of society as well as individual lives. Containing insightful analysis from some of the top minds in demography today, this book will arm readers with the knowledge they need to fully understand these transformations.

Gender and Globalization in Asia and the Pacific Kathy E. Ferguson, Monique Mironesco, 2008-08-01 What is globalization? How is it gendered? How does it work in Asia and the Pacific? The authors of the sixteen original and innovative essays presented here take fresh stock of globalization's complexities. They pursue critical feminist inquiry about women, gender, and sexualities and produce original insights into changing life patterns in Asian and Pacific Island societies. Each essay puts the lives and struggles of women at the center of its examination while weaving examples of global circuits in Asian and Pacific societies into a world frame of analysis. The work is generated from within Asian and Pacific spaces, bringing to the fore local voices and claims to knowledge. The geographic emphasis on Asia-Pacific highlights the complexity of globalizing practices among specific people whose dilemmas come alive on these pages Although the book focuses on global gendered flows it expands its investigation to include the media and the arts intellectual resources activist agendas and individual life stories First rate ethnographies and interviews reach beyond generalizations and bring Pacific and Asian women and men alive in their struggles against globalization Globalization cannot be summed up in a neat political agenda but must be actively contested and creatively negotiated Taking feminist political thinking beyond simple oppositions the authors ask specific questions about how global practices work how they come to be who benefits and what is at stake Contributors Nancie Caraway Steve Dern Cynthia Enloe Kathy Ferguson Maria Ibarra Gwyn Kirk Sally Merry Virginia Metaxas Min Dongchao Monique Mironesco Rhacel Parrenas Lucinda Peach Vivian Price Jyoti Puri Judith Raikin Nancy Riley Saskia Sassen Teresia Teaiwa Chris Yano Yau Ching

International Handbook on Gender and Demographic Processes Nancy E. Riley, Jan Brunson, 2018-05-02 This handbook presents a comprehensive and up to date overview of gender in demography addressing the many different influences of gender that arise from or influence demographic processes It collects in one volume the key issues and perspectives in this area whereby demography is broadly defined The purpose in casting a wide net is to cover the range of work being done within demography but at the same time to open up our perspectives to neighboring fields to encourage better conversations around these issues The chapters in this handbook carefully document definition and measurement issues and take up parts of the demographic picture and focus on how gender plays a role in outcomes In other cases gender often plays a cross cutting role in social processes rather than having a single or easily distinguishable role it often combines with other social institutions and even other statuses and inequalities to affect outcomes Thus a key factor in this volume is how gender interacts with race ethnicity class nationality and sexuality in any demographic setting While each section contains chapters that are broad overviews of the current state of knowledge and behavior the handbook also includes chapters that focus on specific cultures or events in order to examine how gender operates in a particular circumstance

East Asian Mothers in Britain Hyun-Joo Lim, 2018-04-12 How do Chinese Japanese and Korean mothers in Britain make sense of their motherhood and employment What are the intersecting factors that shape these women s identities experiences and stories Contributing further to the continuing discourse and development of intersectionality this book examines East Asian migrant women s stories of motherhood employment and gender relations by deploying interlocking categories that go beyond the meta axes of race gender and class including factors such as husbands ethnicities and the locality of their settlement Through this Lim argues for more detailed and context specific analytical categories of intersectionality enabling a more nuanced understanding of migrant women s stories and identities East Asian Mothers in Britain will appeal to students and scholars across a range of disciplines and with an interest in identity gender ethnicity class migration and intersectionality

Making Families Through Adoption Nancy E. Riley, Krista E. Van Vleet, 2012 This volume examines adoption as a way of understanding the practices and ideology of kinship and family more generally

Adoption allows a window onto discussions of what constitute family or kin the role of biological connectedness oversight of parenting practices by the state and the role of race gender sexuality and socio economic class in the building of families The book focuses primarily on adoption practices in the US but will also use examples of adoption and fostering across cultures to put those American adoption practices into a comparative context While reviewing practices of and issues surrounding adoption the authors highlight the ways these practices and discussions allow us greater insight into overall practices of kinship and family
