

Historical Fiction Reading Teaching Points

Date	Teaching Point
	It is the job of a good reader to identify the historical details and distinguish them from the purely fictional ones, to better understand the backdrop of the novel. Readers pay attention to historical events, real places, cultural artifacts, historical language/slang, and realistic characters.
	In historical fiction stories, the setting is a significant part of the story. Good readers analyze the pictures to synthesize the clues about the physical and emotional setting, by noticing details, so they can understand the author's message in the story. Physical Setting: Transportation, Clothing, Housing Emotional Setting: Mood (Trust vs. Mistrust), weather
	Good readers ask themselves questions about the setting such as: "Why might the author have made it storm just now?" or "What am I supposed to be thinking," so they are alert not to just the facts, but to the tone and mood of the story.
	In historical fiction, readers must understand the impact of the time period on the story by creating a timeline of historical events, as well as a time line of pivotal moments of the main character, so they can understand that the characters exist in a relationship with history.
	We know readers of historical fiction use tools to hold onto all of the parts of the story. Readers can keep track of the historical time period and theme by keeping a list of key words and biographies with photos & notes on each character.
	Good readers study the past histories of characters in a novel because they are an important key to understanding the actions, thoughts, and feelings of the character in the present. We study a character's past by looking for information about a character's background, by identifying memories or flashbacks, or by paying attention to the sequence of a story, to distinguish past from present.
	Strong readers of historical fiction need to gather information quickly, because the beginning is filled with important details we need to take through the story. Strong readers use tools to keep track of events: timelines, flow maps, map w/ sketches & Xs of the setting & key events.
	Good readers understanding the author's intended purpose of the story by analyzing whether the setting is part of the problem in the story (escaping the Holocaust) or operates at a symbolic level (dust of the prairie may mean more than simply that the land is dry).
