Hinge Points Siegfried S. Hecker,2023-01-10 North Korea remains a puzzle to Americans How did this country one of the most isolated in the world and in the policy cross hairs of every U S administration during the past 30 years progress from zero nuclear weapons in 2001 to a threatening arsenal of perhaps 50 such weapons in 2021 Hinge Points brings readers literally inside the North Korean nuclear program joining Siegfried Hecker to see what he saw and hear what he heard in his visits to North Korea from 2004 to 2010 Hecker goes beyond the technical details described in plain English from his on the ground experience at the North s nuclear center at Yongbyon to put the nuclear program exactly where it belongs in the context of decades of fateful foreign policy decisions in Pyongyang and Washington Describing these decisions as hinge points he traces the consequences of opportunities missed by both sides The result has been that successive U S administrations have been unable to prevent the North with the weakest of hands from becoming one of only three countries in the world that might target the United States with nuclear weapons Hecker s unique ability to marry the technical with the diplomatic is well informed by his interactions with North Korean and U S officials over many years while his years of working with Russian Chinese Indian and Pakistani nuclear officials have given him an unmatched breadth of experience from which to view and interpret the thinking and perspective of the North Koreans

Winston,D.P. Lavender,2011-11-01 Reforestation is a subject vital to the economy of British Columbia which depends heavily on its forests a valuable but expendable resource This book provides silviculturalists with a broad reference to the science and technology of reforestation in the Canadian province that forms the single most diverse forest region in North America The work combines for the first time both experiences recorded from practical reforestation projects and the results of scientific investigations

The chapters of Regenerating British Columbia's Forests were compiled and reviewed by experts in each field of discussion. Topics include the physiological bases for seedling vigour and the interaction of reforestation with seedling physiology, the ecology of British Columbia's bioclimatic zones and the role of ecological site classification, the application of financial analyses to reforestation decisions, current technology in manual, mechanical and chemical site preparation and in the use of fire to prepare planting sites, recent progress in tree genetics and breeding and its relevance to the production of tree propagules, nursery technology, methodology in planting, evaluation techniques of plantation release and the role of insects, disease and small mammals and birds in the reforestation process. Regenerating British Columbia's Forests will assist those responsible for planning reforestation projects to reach informed decisions and will challenge them to consider primarily the biological factors basic to reforestation success rather than short term costs and production technology. Although its main audience is practising foresters and forestry students of British Columbia, the text will be of considerable interest to foresters in other parts of Canada, the United States and Europe who manage reforestation.
