Who's who in Television and Cable Steven H. Scheuer,1983 More than 2 500 concise detailed biographies of the key people in the industry Fact and Fancy in Television Regulation Harvey J. Levin,1980-07-18 How diverse can and should TV programming be And especially in what precise ways does governmental regulation of TV affect or fail to affect the programs station owners produce programs which in the final analysis shape in such large measure the values of Americans It is to these timely and beguiling questions that Harvey Levin addresses his dispassionate assessment of the complex relationship between government and the TV industry Analyzing data drawn from the history of the FCC s regulatory decisions as well as from interviews with numerous government and industry officials Professor Levin shows how the present form of restrictive governmental regulation almost always results in higher profits and rents for TV stations with no concomitant increase in programming diversity In addition Professor Levin investigates various other aspects of the media market from the particular kinds of crucial decisions that are made when for example a newspaper owns a TV station to the kinds of problems that arise when commercial rents are taxed to fund public TV from the brand of programming we are offered when a monopoly controls a given TV market to the nature of programming in a situation of steady and fair competition Following a comprehensive assessment the author makes a compelling case for diversification of station ownership in order to be safe rather than sorry He also argues for the entry of new stations more extensive support of public TV and some form of quantitative program requirements all of which will help bring about greater program diversity Professor Levin s volume provides us with a fully documented and sharply focused analysis of the theories policies and problems of one of the most powerful and misunderstood of contemporary institutions Weather on the Air Robert Henson,2013-01-05 From low humor to high drama TV weather reporting has encompassed an enormous range of styles and approaches triggering chuckles infuriating the masses and at times even saving lives In Weather on the Air meteorologist and science journalist Robert Henson covers it all the people technology science and show business that combine to deliver the weather to the public each day Featuring the long term drive to professionalize weathercasting the complex relations between government and private forecasters and the effects of climate change science and the Internet on today s broadcasts With dozens of photos and anecdotes illuminating the many forces that have shaped weather broadcasts over the years this engaging study will be an invaluable tool for students of broadcast meteorology and mass communication and an entertaining read for anyone fascinated by the public face of weather The Complete Book of Colleges, 2018 Edition Princeton
