The Right Place Arturo Bris, 2021-07-28 The Right Place explains why firms succeed in one country and fail in another irrespective of their inner drivers and suggests potential initiatives that governments can take to help the private sector create jobs and consequently make their countries more prosperous The competitiveness race is not unlike a cycling race If you want to ride fast you need three things a good bike to be in good shape and a smooth and fast road In a collaborative model you might say the business is the bicycle the business leader is the cyclist and the road is the government and the external environment The responsibility of a government is to design and build the best possible road It turns out that when the road is good good cyclists suddenly appear and want to race on it In this book competition and macroeconomics expert Arturo Bris provides the analysis of country competitive performance based on 30 years advising countries on this topic The typical mistakes that countries make are revealed and the pillars necessary in building a competitive economy economic performance as a necessary condition for prosperity government efficiency so the public sector can create the conditions for a productive economy business efficiency so companies can create jobs and infrastructure both tangible and intangible so businesses and individuals can operate efficiently With contemporary case studies throughout the book provides an illuminating read for politicians business leaders and students of macroeconomics

Changing the Industrial Geography in Asia Shahid Yusuf, Kaoru Nabeshima, 2010 A Great Burst Of Globalization brought the 20th century to a close creating upheaval in the world economy from roughly 1995 to 2008 And now with the new century barely commenced a second upheaval is in the offing following the severe financial crisis that plunged the global economy into recession in 2008 09 The first upheaval witnessed a massive migration of manufacturing and certain business services that transformed Asia into the industrial heartland of the world The second upheaval will likely consolidate Asia's industrial preeminence and could result in a concentration of industrial activities in the two most populous and fastest growing Asian economies China and India As the two Asian giants become the industrial equals of the United States Germany and Japan the ramifications will affect trade and growth worldwide the future of development in China and India and industrialization throughout Asia Changing the Industrial Geography in Asia The Impact of China and India examines these developments focusing specifically on China and India Its analysis and conclusions will be of particular interest to policy makers and academics as well as anyone with an interest in how China and India are likely to reshape industry throughout Asia Changing the Industrial Geography in Asia is rich in detailed analysis of the continuing transformation of the manufacturing sector in Asia both in terms of its moving geography and its composition For those interested in understanding the prospects of post financial crisis Asia this book is a must read It is a refreshing return to economic fundamentals including the new problems of climate change and dwindling energy resources and will remain the leading reference on Asian transformation for a long time to come The authors consolidate a remarkable amount of data and analysis on the industrial structure of Asia and its emergence as the industrial center of the global economy

European Cities and Global Competitiveness Peter Karl Kresl, Daniele Ietri, 2012 Europe is in a troubled state The macroeconomic situation looks grim national governments are close to dysfunction and Europeans are facing austerity and relative decline The one bright spot on the horizon is the potential for positive action at the level of the city and urban regions In this book the editors have assembled a collection of original contributions by scholars from Europe North America and Asia who offer insights as to how local authorities in Europe might be able to chart a course for their city or urban region during this period of extraordinary difficulty The volume begins with an Introduction followed by a set of three papers in Part Two examining European urban competitiveness from the standpoints of measurement and policy This section also provides a case study of the cities of one country _ Italy _ from which the reader can gain an understanding of the current position of European cities as well as what might be possible going forward Experience has shown that perhaps the most crucial element in competitiveness enhancement is good and effective governance To that end Part Three examines structural aspects of urban government including polycentric regions wide metropolitan cooperation the role of social actors and territorial aggregation Part Four treats issues of innovation from two perspectives and provides a case study from Eindhoven while also covering social issues such as demographics participation social exclusion and mobility This set of scholarly reflections will be of considerable benefit to urban practitioners researchers and students of public policy
