Education

Arts

"The appreciation of the arts makes us human." Do you agree?

Humans are the only beings capable of expressing free will and creativity, and are the only ones with the ability to create from imagination alone. Though some may dismiss the appreciation of the arts as a frivolous pastime or an exclusive activity within the confines of the artistic community, it is what makes us human as it celebrates the human ingenuity to create. The appreciation of the arts allows us to reflect on the human condition as it provides social commentary, and allows us to find common ground with one another, thus forming cultural communities that define us. Therefore, the appreciation of the arts is definitely what makes us human.

What you need a good education to succeed in life?

This quote may be familiar to many, showing how important education is for one to build a bright future and attain success in life. With a traditional education, the higher the pay and the better the standard of living. However, in modern society, this statement may not hold entirely true especially with the rise of an extensive social platform and many other unconventional ways that do not require a degree to achieve success in life. Below we will discuss how education is not the only way to succeed in life and education might not be that necessary.

General Paper Methodology Teachers' Training College (Singapore),1970      Daily Graphic ,      Designing Learning with Embodied Teaching Fei Victor Lim,2020-08-27 Teaching and learning involve more than just language The teachers use of gestures the classroom spaces they occupy and the movements they make as well as the tools they use work together with language as a multimodal ensemble of meanings Embodied teaching is about applying the understandings from multimodal communication to the classroom It is about helping teachers recognise that the moves they make and the tools they use in the classroom are part of their pedagogy and contribute to the design of the students learning experience In response to the changing profile and needs of learners in this digital age pedagogic shifts are required A shift is the evolving role of teachers from authority of knowledge to designers of learning This book discusses how using examples drawn from case studies teachers can use corporeal resources and digital tools to design learning experiences for their students It advances the argument that the study of the teachers use of language gestures positioning and movement in the classroom from a multimodal perspective can be productive This book is intended for educational researchers and teacher practitioners as well as curriculum specialists and policy makers The central proposition is that as teachers develop a semiotic awareness of how their use of various meaning making resources express their unique pedagogy they can use these multimodal resources aptly and fluently to design meaningful learning experiences This book also presents a case for further research in educational semiotics to understand the embodied ways of meaning making in the pedagogic context Daily
