Goods Transport Agency Service Tax Abatement 201:

In the Long Run We're All Dead Timothy Lewis, 2013-08-01 Canadian politics in the 1990s were characterized by an unwavering focus on the deficit. At the beginning of the decade it seemed that fiscal deficits were intractable a fait accompli of Canadian politics yet by the end of the decade Ottawa had taken remarkable actions to eliminate its budgetary shortfalls and had successfully eradicated its deficits. How such a radical change of political course came to pass is still not well understood. In The Long Run We're All Dead: The Canadian Turn to Fiscal Restraint offers the first comprehensive scholarly account of this vital public policy issue. Lewis deftly analyzes the history of deficit finance from before Confederation through Canada's postwar Keynesianism to the retrenchment of the Mulroney and Chrétien years. In doing so he illuminates how the political conditions for Ottawa's deficit elimination in the 1990s materialized after over 20 consecutive years in the red and how the decline of Canadian Keynesianism has made way for the emergence of politics organized around balanced budgets. This important book provides scholars and students of Canadian politics with a new framework by which to understand the adoption of government policy, the economic and fiscal legacy of the Mulroney administrations and the emergence of the new politics of the surplus. It will be of great interest to those engaged with Canadian politics, political economy and public policy as well as to participants in policy processes and the informed public.

Brownfields Redevelopment Joaquin Jay Gonzalez III, Tad McGalliard, Ignacio Dayrit, 2021-09-04 In urban planning a brownfield is a former industrial or commercial site where environmental contamination hinders development. They exist in almost every community there is probably one in your neighborhood and state or federal resources can be used to facilitate assessment, cleanup and reuse. Drawing on a range of local and international experiences this collection of essays focuses on cases where citizens, nonprofits, developers, cities and state and federal agencies overcame challenges and mitigated risks to redevelop brownfields using leading edge practices and simple innovations. The Covid 19 pandemic and mass civil unrest of 2020 underscores the importance of health and social justice considerations in future development initiatives.
