Adolescence, likewise understood as "teenage years" is a time of significant modification. This phase of life marks a developmental period that follows childhood and comes prior to adulthood. Teenage years is closely associated with puberty, which is also considered as a developmental turning point, especially in the western nations. The age of puberty describes the period of teenage years when a person ends up being capable of recreation (Carpenter, S. & Huffman, K., 2008). In this paper, I will talk about the different aspects that affect the physical, cognitive, social, moral, and character development of teenagers. Adolescence is a time of fast physical development which is shown by the drastic growth spurt in the height, weight and skeletal muscles. In this phase, rapid advancement of testes, scrotum and penis develops in teen young boys whereas advancement of ovaries, uterus, and vagina takes place in teen women. I think some of the elements that lead to this fast physical advancement can be called to account to both genetic and ecological impacts. Hereditary influences are likewise described as "acquired" qualities which are handed down from the moms and dads to the offspring. For that reason, these are likewise referred to as "nature" influences. On the contrary, ecological influences are those experiences that one obtains from their surrounding environment as one grows and grows. Such influences are likewise referred to as "support". Genetics play an important role in the physical development of an adolescent. For instance, if the parents of a child are extremely hairy, then there is a high probability that the child will also become hairy earlier in life. Also, if both the parents are tall, then there is a high probability that the child will also become taller in their puberty years. Moreover, environment also plays a major role in one's physical development. Environment encompasses family surroundings, media influences, culture and so on. For instance, one of the Asian countries requires girls to wear metal bands around their necks from early age so that when they get into the puberty years, they can develop long and slender necks. This is so because it is considered beautiful in their culture for girls to have long and slender necks; it is a part of their culture. In addition, environmental and cultural factors such as television, internet, and media amongst others can play a major role to influence development in adolescence. Adolescence is also a time of changes occurring in the development of cognition. Piaget developed a theory of cognitive development which emphasize on the four stages that children must go through. The four stages of Piaget's stages of cognitive development are as follows: sensorimotor, preoperational, concrete operational, and formal operational stage. Since the focus of this paper is adolescence, I would discuss the formal operational stage in depth as it is developed in ages of 11 and up. Formal Operational stage can be characterized by abstract thinking, logical thought and hypothetical reasoning. In Piaget's Formal operational stage, the children acquire the ability to think abstractly and hypothetically. In other words, children can ask themselves "what if" type of hypothetical questions, which...
