LIGHT and HEAT

Some light sources produce both light and heat. For example, the sun is a light source that is 5500 °C.

Other light sources produce light with minimal heat. For example, a phone screen gives light, but not heat.

Colour the light sources that produce both light and heat in warm colours (red, orange, yellow).

Colour the light sources that produce light with minimal or no heat in cold colours (purple, blue, green).

Were there any light sources that you were unsure about?
