THE EMERGENCY MEDICAL RESPONDER

1 You Are the Emergency Medical Responder

A terrified mother grabs her child from the bottom of a pool while a neighbor calls 911 for help. You are the first to arrive at the scene and see the neighbor trying to breathe air into the boy's face. The mother looks to you helplessly. What would you do next?

2 Precautions

• When you work with a patient who may have a bloodborne pathogen, you should wear gloves and use a face shield or goggles and a gown when you are exposed to blood or other body fluids.

• The Healthcare Infection Control Practices Advisory Committee (HICPAC) recommends that you use a single-use respirator for all procedures involving treatment of a patient. These procedures include:
• all aerosol-generating procedures
• some cases of the patient's coughing, sneezing, or vomiting
• all procedures involving blood, body fluids, or secretions

• Hand hygiene before and after the procedure is essential to prevent the spread of infection. Always use alcohol-based hand sanitizer.
