New-Church Messenger ,1919 Cross-Cultural Schooling Experiences of Chinese Immigrant Families Shijing Xu,2017-06-28 This book introduces the concept of reciprocal educational learning among cultures with very different historical and philosophical origins The concept of reciprocal learning grows out of a four year study of immigrant Chinese family narrative experiences in a Western context This book captures the lived moments of such transitional lives both in and out of school settings to demonstrate why a child would appear and disappear from different caregivers purview Through the narrative lens of student and family life the study illustrates the intersection of Confucian and Western philosophies of education and how their interaction creates complications as well as benefits for both traditions hence the idea of reciprocal learning The Educational reporter (and science teachers' review). ,1869 The Tyranny of Writing Constanze

Weth,Kasper Juffermans,2018-01-25 This book examines the powerful role of writing in society The invention of writing independently at various places and times in history always stood at the cradle of powerful civilizations It is impossible to imagine modern life without writing As individuals and social groups we hold high expectations of its potential for societal and personal development Globally huge resources have been and are being invested in promoting literacy worldwide So what could possibly be tyrannical about writing The title is inspired by Ferdinand de Saussure s argument against writing as an object of linguistic research and what he called la tyrannie de la lettre His critique denounced writing as an imperfect distorted image of speech that obscures our view of language and its structure The chapters of the book written by experts in language and literacy studies go beyond this and explore tyrannical aspects of writing in society through history and around the world from Medieval Novgorod the European Renaissance and 19th century France and Germany over colonial Sudan to postcolonial Sri Lanka and Senegal and present day Hong Kong and Central China to the Netherlands and Spain The metaphor of tyranny of writing serves as a heuristic for exploring ideologies of language and literacy in culture and society and tensions and contradictions between the written and the spoken word
