According to UNICEF, the health of women is a telling window on female inequality and it is most telling at the most vulnerable time of life: infancy and early childhood. The global commission on Women's Health considers it imperative to look at women's health within a life cycle perspective; in other words, throughout the evolving stages of a woman's life. The health conditions in one phase of a woman's life not only affect subsequent phases of her own life; but also have an impact on future generations. This inter-generational link is a characteristic, unique to women.
