This volume contains papers selected for presentation at the 6th IAPR Workshop on Document Analysis Systems DAS 2004 held during September 8-10 2004 at the University of Florence Italy Several papers represent the state of the art in a broad range of traditional topics such as layout analysis applications to graphics recognition and handwritten documents Other contributions address the description of complete working systems which is one of the strengths of this workshop Some papers extend the application domains to other media like the processing of Internet documents The peculiarity of this 6th workshop was the large number of papers related to digital libraries and to the processing of historical documents a taste which frequently requires the analysis of color documents A total of 17 papers are associated with these topics whereas two years ago in DAS 2002 only a couple of papers dealt with these problems In our view there are three main reasons for this new wave in the DAS community From the scientific point of view several research fields reached a thorough knowledge of techniques and problems that can be effectively solved and this expertise can now be applied to new domains Another incentive has been provided by several research projects funded by the EC and the NSF on topics related to digital libraries

Plain Text Dennis Tenen,2017-06-20 This book challenges the ways we read write store and retrieve information in the digital age Computers from electronic books to smart phones play an active role in our social lives Our technological choices thus entail theoretical and political commitments Dennis Tenen takes up today's strange enmeshing of humans texts and machines to argue that our most ingrained intuitions about texts are profoundly alienated from the physical contexts of their intellectual production Drawing on a range of primary sources from both literary theory and software engineering he makes a case for a more transparent practice of human computer interaction Plain Text is thus a rallying call a frame of mind as much as a file format It reminds us ultimately that our devices also encode specific modes of governance and control that must remain available to interpretation Conference proceedings. New perspectives in science education 7th edition Pixel,2018-03-19 Cyberlines 2.0 Donna Gibbs,Kerri-Lee Krause,2006 As one of the most significant and original cross cultural analyses of the distinctive language and culture of the internet this book offers an exciting and original critique of the futuristic synthesis of the linguistic visual spatial and digital dimensions which characterise the world of the internet. Recognising that information technology and languages and cultures of the internet continue to expand almost exponentially the authors provide a timely analysis of the themes and key concepts necessary for understanding the new languages of the internet. The book is organised around four interrelated themes: The languages of cyberspace, New literacies, Gaming and socialising, and Culture and communities in cyberspace. The authors build on the new tech discourses and tech cultures of the internet. Internationally acclaimed authors examine the cultural dimensions of cyberlanguage, screen reading and critical literacy, negotiating the web literacy and technology pedagogy of education, tainment, children and CD Rom technology, identity and mobile phones, cyberself and identity on the internet and the new literacies of blogging and SMS messaging. This insightful and provocative study demonstrates the profound effects of information technology on the evolving global cultures and subcultures caused by these new forms of thinking, perceiving and communication. Cyberlines 2.0: Languages and cultures of the internet is an essential text for teachers, students, IT professionals, media analysts and marketing directors.
