World Trade Organization

February March 2014 Memorandum Paper 1:

Jamaica International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept.,2016-09-19 This paper discusses Jamaica s Thirteenth Review Under the Arrangement Under the Extended Fund Facility Program implementation is on track The authorities continued commitment to the demanding reform program even in the fourth year of the IMF supported program is commendable All quantitative performance criteria to be completed by the end of June 2016 as well as the continuous quantitative program targets and structural benchmarks have been met Domestic confidence indicators are at an all time high and there are signs of improving economic activity including agricultural recovery strong performance in tourism and manufacturing and stronger private sector credit growth Higher growth dividends more job creation and improved living standards will be essential to continued social support for the reform agenda Australia's Human Rights Scrutiny Regime Adam Fletcher,2018-09-17 In 2010 the Australian Government decided that it would not propose a Human Rights Act despite the relevant recommendation of the 2008 09 National Human Rights Consultation Instead it introduced a Human Rights Framework comprising several measures to enhance human rights protection including the Human Rights Parliamentary Scrutiny Act 2011 The scrutiny regime under that Act was designed to ensure rights would be given due consideration before Commonwealth legislation was passed The Act created a unique bipartite dialogue system involving a formal interchange on rights compatibility between the executive and Parliament while excluding the courts This set the Commonwealth apart from jurisdictions such as the ACT Victoria New Zealand and the UK which have statutory rights instruments administered by their courts The book presents a detailed study of all aspects of the scrutiny regime and compares the regime with its closest counterparts overseas In assessing the regime s impact it argues that a system in which the executive and Parliament are responsible both for protecting rights and for remedying rights breaches is neither more legitimate nor more effective than one involving all three branches of government Accordingly it calls for strengthening reforms Reconceptualising Unaccompanied Child Asylum Seekers and the Law Jennifer L. Whelan,2022-09-30 Unaccompanied child asylum seekers are amongst the world s most vulnerable populations and their numbers are increasing The intersection of their age their seeking asylum and separation from their parents creates a specific and acute triple burden of vulnerability Their precariousness has long been recognised in international human rights law Yet human rights based responses have been subordinated to progressive global securitisation of irregular migration through interception interdiction extraterritorial processing and immigration detention Such an approach necessitates an urgent paradigm shift in how we comprehend their needs as children the impact of punitive border control laws on them and the responsibility of States to these children when they arrive at their borders seeking asylum This book reconceptualises the relationship between unaccompanied child asylum seekers and States It proposes a new conceptual framework by applying international human rights law childhood studies and vulnerability theory scholarship in analysing State obligations to respond to these children This framework incorporates a robust analysis of the operation and impact of laws on vulnerable populations a taxonomy for articulating the gravity of any consequent harms and a method to prioritise recommendations for reform The book then illustrates the framework's utility using Australia's treatment of unaccompanied children as a case study This book illuminates key learnings from human rights law childhood studies and vulnerability theory and transforms them into a new roadmap for law reform As such it will be a valuable practice based resource for practitioners non government organisations advocates policymakers and the general public interested in advocating for the rights of vulnerable populations as well as for academics researchers and students of human rights law refugee law childhood studies and vulnerability studies Fallout John Solomon,Seamus

Settlements in the Pharmaceutical Industry under US Antitrust and EU Competition Law Amalia

Athanasiadou, 2018-08-14. Reverse payment settlements or pay for delay agreements between originators and generic drug manufacturers create heated debates regarding the balance between competition and intellectual property law. These settlements touch upon sensitive issues such as timely generic entry and access to affordable pharmaceuticals and also the need to preserve innovation incentives for originators and to strengthen the pipeline of life saving pharmaceuticals. This book is one of the first to critically and comparatively analyse how such patent settlements and various other strategies employed by the pharmaceutical industry are scrutinised by both United States (US) and European courts and enforcement authorities and to discuss the applicable legal tests and the main criteria used for their assessment. The book's ultimate objective is to provide guidance to the pharmaceutical industry regarding the types of patent settlements strategies and conduct which may be problematic from US antitrust and European Union (EU) competition law perspectives and to assist practitioners in structuring settlements which are both efficient and compliant. To this end, an exhaustive legal analysis of some of the most controversial issues regarding pharmaceutical patent settlements is provided, including the lengthy split among US Circuit Courts on the issue of pay for delay settlements, its resolution by the US Supreme Court in FTC v Actavis and subsequent jurisprudence, the decision of Lundbeck v Commission by the European General Court and the Servier decision of the European Commission, the Roche Novartis decision of the European Court of Justice and the most important decisions by National Competition Authorities on pharma patent settlements in the EU. An overview of other types of strategies such as product hopping and product reformulations, no authorised generic commitments, problematic side deals, mechanisms affecting generic substitution, the rejection of the scope of the patent test in both the US and the EU and the balancing of patent law and antitrust law considerations in the prevailing applicable tests, the benefits of settlements and the main criteria for assessing their legitimacy under US antitrust and EU competition law. The analysis provides concrete examples of both illegitimate and legitimate settlements and strategies, emphasising on conduct that falls within a grey zone and on the circumstances and criteria under which such conduct could be deemed problematic from an antitrust perspective. This book will serve as a valuable guide for pharmaceutical companies wishing to minimise the risk of engaging in conduct that could potentially infringe US antitrust and EU competition law. It further aims to save courts and enforcement agencies and also practitioners and academics considerable time and resources by providing an exhaustive analysis of the relevant caselaw.
