Tourism Senay Sabah, 2019-11-06 Tourism is an important phenomenon of today's global world and is regarded as the world's biggest industry. As a concept, tourism inspires attention from different scientific areas and can be considered within an interdisciplinary context. Due to its multidisciplinary, multidimensional, and multimethod character, tourism is an area ripe for study. This book is a modest try for that end. The chapters are written from economic, managerial, marketing, and educational perspectives using different frameworks and methodologies.

Tourism and Politics Peter M. Burns, Marina Novelli, 2007-03-14 Tourism and Politics aims to disseminate ideas on the critical discourse of tourism and tourists as they relate to politics through a series of case studies from around the world written by specialists with an emphasis on linking theory to practice. That tourism is a profoundly important economic sector for most countries and regions of the world is widely accepted even if some of the detail remains controversial. However, as tourism matures as a subject, the theories underpinning it necessarily need to be more sophisticated. Tourism cannot be simply read as a business proposition with a series of impacts. Wider questions of politics, power, and identity need to be articulated, investigated, and answered. While the making and consuming of tourism takes place within complex political milieus with multiple stakeholders competing for benefit, the implications are not fully understood. Literature on tourism and politics is surprisingly limited. This book will make a substantial contribution to the theoretical framework of tourism.

Tempo, 2002

Cross-cultural Behaviour in Tourism Yvette Reisinger, Lindsay W. Turner, 2003 Reisinger and Turner illustrate the importance of cultural background in the tourist experience in this in-depth study. The authors cover the concepts, definitions, and measures of these cultural components and the tools used to analyse them.

The Romance of K'tut Tantri and Indonesia Timothy Lindsey, 2008 This historiographic study of K'tut Tantri, alias Vannen Walker, the journalist from the Isle of Man, Muriel Pearson, the unhappy wife, and Surabaya Sue, the notorious revolutionary, compares her romantic and colorful autobiography, Revolt in Paradise, with other versions of her past, including those of her fellow Bali colonists and her revolutionary comrades, as well as her foes, the Dutch, and various intelligence organizations. These alternative accounts of her past question the image of K'tut Tantri as a hero, portraying her instead as dishonest, unstable, egotistical, and immoral. Such criticisms have overshadowed proper recognition of her role in the development of modern Indonesia, both as a bohemian hotelier in between wars, Bali, and later as propaganda broadcaster and adviser to Indonesian revolutionary leaders, including Soekarno, Sutomo, and Syarifuddin. Focusing on the nature of biography and autobiography, this book analyses K'tut Tantri's self-defeating battle to use history in text and film script to define her identity and reappropriate her past. An examination of the use of ideas of truth and fiction in understanding the past leads to broader consideration of the nature of history and its uses. Finally, an attempt is made to reconcile the deconstruction of K'tut

Tantri's autobiography with both an acceptance of the validity of alternative historical genres and an acceptance of the problems inherent in writing a history of a living person

ABOUT THE AUTHOR Timothy Lindsey is Professor of Law Director of the Asian Law Centre Director of the Centre for Islamic Law and Society and Federation Fellow in the Law School at the University of Melbourne

Religious Actors and Conflict Transformation in Southeast Asia Jürgen Rüland, Christian von Lübke, Marcel Baumann, 2019-04-30 Drawing on a rich body of multimethod field research this book examines the ways in which Indonesian and Philippine religious actors have fostered conflict resolution and under what conditions these efforts have been met with success or limited success The book addresses two central questions In what ways and to what extent

Contemporary Bali Agung Wardana, 2019-01-25 This book offers a comprehensive examination of spatial and environmental governance in contemporary Bali In the era of decentralisation Bali's eight district governments and one municipality acquired a strong sense of authority to extract revenues from within their territorial borders while disregarding the impacts beyond them which has exacerbated environmental cultural and institutional issues These issues are addressed through reorganising space In reality however such re organisation has predominantly been in order to provide space for tourism investments and market expansion The outcomes of reorganising space are in fact shaped by the dynamics of power that interface with increasingly complex legal and institutional structures These complex structures provide more arenas for vested interests to manoeuvre but at the same time provide different forms of legitimacy for local forces to challenge the dominant process The book demonstrates the mechanisms through which social actors mobilise legal institutional arrangements to advance their interests
