Rosenbluth, 2016-11-21 The complexity of living organisms surpasses our unaided abilities of analysis Hence computational and mathematical methods are necessary for increasing our understanding of biological systems At the same time there has been a phenomenal recent progress allowing the application of novel formal methods to new domains This progress has spurred a conspicuous optimism in computational biology This optimism in turn has promoted a rapid increase in collaboration between specialists of biology with specialists of computer science Through sheer complexity however many important biological problems are at present intractable and it is not clear whether we will ever be able to solve such problems We are in the process of learning what kind of model and what kind of analysis and synthesis techniques to use for a particular problem Some existing formalisms have been readily used in biological problems others have been adapted to biological needs and still others have been especially developed for biological systems This Research Topic has examples of cases 1 employing existing methods 2 adapting methods to biology and 3 developing new methods We can also see discrete and Boolean models and the use of both simulators and model checkers Synthesis is exemplified by manual and by machine learning methods We hope that the articles collected in this Research Topic will stimulate new research Myelin Repair: At the Crossing-Lines of Myelin Biology and Gene Therapy Matthias Klugmann, Dominik Fröhlich, Dominic J. Microenvironment-Derived Stem Cell Plasticity Jelena Krstic, Marietta Herrmann, Ivana Gadjanski, Slavko Mojsilovic, 2017-12-21. Plasticity is the hallmark of stem cells. At the same time stem cells like any other cell type are influenced by their microenvironment and respond to it accordingly. A specific microenvironment is defined by a variety of factors including biological and chemical factors, cell-cell interactions but also metabolic and mechanical cues. Such dynamic and specialized microenvironment where the stem cells reside is considered a stem cell niche. Tissue injury as well as malignant tissue alterations lead to changes in the niche influencing the plasticity and biology of residing stem cells. Similarly the niche changes upon tissue damage which eventually induces differentiation of stem cells and ultimately regeneration of the tissue.
