Ageing in China Xin Deng,Kym Fraser,Jie Shen,2023-02-14 This book provides a comprehensive examination of the effect of ageing population in China on labour market The delay in releasing 2020 census data in China once again drew world s attention to the ageing population in China the births have fallen to their lowest level since the 1960s The relaxation of one child child policy seems to have little impact to reverse the declining birth rate starting in the 2010s Rising longevity have made China the most populous country in the world fast becoming an ageing society Within a few decades it will become the country with the largest ageing population in the world This book adopts a multi disciplinary approach to explore the effects of ageing population on labour market at three levels Macro organizational and individual levels Population ageing in China is of interest to researchers practitioners and policy makers across the world Population ageing has profound effects on various parts of the society and this book will focus on the labour market aiming at producing a comprehensive picture of how population ageing affecting the composition of workforce and the way people work from the perspective of individuals organization and society as a whole This book examines China s population ageing through the lens of economics management and sociology in order to produce a comprehensive understanding of this issue This book includes cutting edge research and most up to date statistics for arguably China s most important social change for the next few decades This book encases high quality research on China s ageing population and is expected to the reliable source of information for future research and policy development This book presents a collection of chapters examining the impact of population ageing at three levels in order to provide a holistic view of this matter and allow readers to choose the topic that meet their interests

Materialities of Age and Ageing: Concepts of a Material Gerontology Grit Höppner,Monika Urban,2019-06-18 In gerontological research the understanding of age and ageing changed in the last decade Biologic determined explanations no longer prevail in this research field Instead ideas of social constructivism are frequently used These ideas define the state of age and the process of ageing as social constructions steeping ageing in social and cultural assumptions ascriptions and expectations From a social constructivist perspective age and ageing are not just identified as dependency deficit and need for care as it was foremost accelerated from a biological perspective but with the life course and thus with individual lifestyles experiences attitudes and practices as well as institutional and economic structures A prominent social constructivist concept is doing age Similar to doing gender the concept of doing age assumes age as taking place in the form of a social praxis within everyday life interactions between people and thus in performances embedded in discourses through which social hierarchies and ideals proceed Despite the paradigm shift that social constructivist concepts enable in gerontological thinking they reveal their blind spot when it comes to the materiality of ageing and thus to fleshy sensual experiences human and non human ontologies and agencies Addressing these materialities of ageing brings up its own critique on definitions of ageing bodies and material environments This framing does not presume that age and ageing are solely products of human to human interactions or those of formative environments or of discourses Rather humans non humans and discourses become essential parts of ageing processes Such a material framing enables us new insights into forms of age and ageing and thus offers an opportunity for scholars to engage critically with materialities of age and ageing This eBook explores theoretical methodological and empirical concepts of such a Material Gerontology Governance of the Global and Extra-Terrestrial Commons Michael Roe, 2023-06-26 This book provides a unique analysis of the complex relationship between governance and the global commons It has a specific reference to the dynamic and growing outer space economy and society and how experience in the maritime sector which exhibits many of the same issues and challenges as outer space can be useful in suggesting moves forward in policy making and design This book fills a large gap in the literature of both governance and the development of outer space Whilst the maritime sector has a long history of debate albeit little in terms of governance and policy making outer space has much less and what there has been commonly focused upon technical considerations The importance of this book is that the failures of maritime governance need to be avoided in the outer space sector which exhibits many of the same issues particularly those related to the global commons Innovative and exciting this book will be of interest to academics studying corporate governance business management and space capitalism Ageing, Diversity and Equality Sue Westwood, 2018-10-31 Current understandings of ageing and diversity are impoverished in three main ways Firstly with regards to thinking about what inequalities operate in later life there has been an excessive preoccupation with economic resources On the other hand less attention has been paid to cultural norms and values other resources wider social processes political participation and community engagement Secondly in terms of thinking about the who of inequality this has so far been limited to a very narrow range of minority populations Finally when considering the how of inequality social gerontology's theoretical analyses remain under developed The overall effect of these issues is that social gerontology remains deeply embedded in normative assumptions which serve to exclude a wide range of older people Ageing Diversity and Equality aims to challenge and provoke the above described normativity and offer an alternative approach which highlights the heterogeneity and diversity of ageing associated inequalities and their intersections The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/9781351851329> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 licence
