Reclaiming Indigenous Research in Higher Education Robin Zape-tah-hol-ah Minthorn,Heather J. Shotton,2018-02-27 Indigenous students remain one of the least represented populations in higher education They continue to account for only one percent of the total post secondary student population and this lack of representation is felt in multiple ways beyond enrollment Less research money is spent studying Indigenous students and their interests are often left out of projects that otherwise purport to address diversity in higher education Recently Native scholars have started to reclaim research through the development of their own research methodologies and paradigms that are based in tribal knowledge systems and values and that allow inherent Indigenous knowledge and lived experiences to strengthen the research Reclaiming Indigenous Research in Higher Education highlights the current scholarship emerging from these scholars of higher education From understanding how Native American students make their way through school to tracking tribal college and university transfer students this book allows Native scholars to take center stage and shines the light squarely on those least represented among us from a diverse lens by taking cultural context into account while examining educational leadership Drawing on cross cultural perspectives the authors investigate the relationship between leadership for learning and societal culture in addition to the relationship between leadership style and culture The text provides a theoretical basis for understanding leadership in the context of Asian countries and offers practical suggestions for identifying effective and culturally sensitive leadership practices in similar cultural contexts An excellent resource for graduate students researchers in comparative education educational practitioners looking to improve their education practices and anyone interested in cultural leadership practices

Clearing the Path for First-Generation College Students Bedelia Nicola Richards,Ashley C. Rondini,Nicolas P. Simon,2018-06-07 Clearing the Path for First Generation College Students comprises a wide range of studies that explore the multidimensional social processes and meanings germane to the experiences of first generation college students before and during their matriculation into institutions of higher education The chapters offer timely empirical examinations of the ways that these students negotiate experiences shaped by structural inequities in higher education institutions and the pathways that lead to them This volume provides insight into the dilemmas that arise from the transformation of students class identities in pursuit of upward mobility as well as their quest for community and a sense of belonging on college campuses that have not been historically designed for them While centering first generation status this collection also critically engages the ways in which other dimensions of social identity intersect to inform students educational experiences in relation to dynamics of race ethnicity socioeconomic class gender and immigration Additionally this book takes a holistic approach by exploring the ways in which first generation college students are influenced by and engage with their families and communities of origin as they undertake their educational careers Affirming Identity, Advancing Belonging, and Amplifying Voice in Sororities and Fraternities Pietro A. Sasso,Mónica Lee Miranda,J. Patrick Biddix,2024-04-01 In the wake of the AbolishGreekLife and other calls for racial justice the role of identity development also becomes ever increasingly important as we consider how to make the sorority fraternity more inclusive for our students In the end it may really be the power of inclusion on college campuses that leads to many of the educational goals that we yearn for in student growth the formal and informal social interactions bonded in reflective learning that help build social and academic success In this we can celebrate together especially those of us who have romanticized so many bright college years This text is a response to a call for existential exploration as an attempt to critically revivify our understanding of the sorority fraternity experience as it contributes specifically to students identity development and learning The text is grouped around centering their experiences through three A s Amplifying Voice Affirming Identity and Advancing Belonging to highlight the identity experiences of the diverse spectrum of fraternity and sorority members across the intersections of identity so often excluded from the literature Chapters in this text attempt to foreground how the fraternity sorority experience explicitly contributes to these areas of student development across multiple identities including race ethnicity culture gender identity social class and ability

Authors critically interrogate systems of oppressions that subjugate marginality from those with intersectional identities to recognize the larger challenges facing the sorority fraternity movement as an attempt to disrupt these systems to better identify influences on identity development

ENDORSEMENTS

Pietro Sasso and associates are leading a game changing conversation about the impact of fraternity and sorority communal experiences on student identity

Teaching Educational Leadership in Muslim Countries Eugenie A. Samier, Eman S. ElKaleh, 2019-04-10

This book explores the Islamic tradition and Muslim contexts for educational administration and leadership

It addresses the teaching of educational administration and leadership from an Islamic perspective by raising issues of globalised educational administration and leadership teaching as it applies in Muslim contexts that vary by culture and social institutions

The book proposes alternative approaches and demonstrates that Islamic traditions have a strong foundation upon which to build in the field and are compatible with many aspects of Western theory and practices provided that sufficient modifications and adaptations are made

The book focuses on postgraduate curricula and pedagogy drawing on a range of theoretical foundations and approaches that are culturally and jurisdictionally appropriate in a number of Muslim countries

As such it contributes to an emerging specialisation in international and comparative educational administration and leadership that is oriented towards a broader and more diverse set of perspectives particularly from the non Western world

points to consider in making a commitment to social justice in higher education Developments Beyond the Asterisk Heather J. Shotton, Stephanie J. Waterman, Natalie R. Youngbull, Shelly C. Lowe, 2023-12-01 This edited volume serves as a follow up to Beyond the Asterisk: Understanding Native Students in Higher Education focusing on new scholarship, continued conversations, and growth in the field of Indigenous higher education. The landscape of higher education has changed significantly over the past decade; likewise, Indigenous higher education has grown into its own respective field with emerging scholarship that is written for and by Indigenous people. This book focuses on this growth, revisiting relevant topics in Indigenous higher education while adding new and expanded research and insight from emerging scholars and practitioners, including chapters on Indigenous LGBTQIA and Two Spirit students and Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islanders. The voices of Indigenous scholars who are challenging the status quo in higher education have grown louder, and institutions and organizations have increasingly begun to respond. This volume is essential to continued conversations in Indigenous higher education and invites current, emerging, and future scholars to carry the conversation forward in respectful, responsible, and relational ways.
