Infrastructure And Poverty In Sub Saharan Africa:

Infrastructure and Poverty in Sub-Saharan Africa A. Estache, Q. Wodon, 2014-11-19 Infrastructure and Poverty in Sub Saharan Africa analyzes the extent to which how and how fast the infrastructure needs of the poor have been met in Sub Saharan Africa Estache and Wodon explore the extent to which some key policies have hurt or helped progress in trying to speed the expansions of coverage so clearly needed in the region They focus on electricity water sanitation and other services at the core of the day to day needs of the population examining the extent to which reforms of the last 15 20 years have managed to reduce the infrastructure gap They anchor their analysis on the evidence available about the macroeconomic importance of infrastructure for the region the policies that have been adopted to accelerate coverage and a detailed assessment of the poverty dimensions of infrastructure

Infrastructure for Economic Development and Poverty Reduction in Africa Afeikhen Jerome, 2011 Evaluates the role of infrastructure in promoting economic growth and poverty reduction in Africa Examines complementary physical infrastructure telecommunications power transport roads railways ports and airports and water supply Explores Africa s infrastructure endowment and financing options

Infrastructure and Poverty in Sub-Saharan Africa - A Review Jörg Peters, 2016 Africa's Infrastructure World Bank, 2009-12-01 Sustainable infrastructure development is vital for Africa s prosperity And now is the time to begin the transformation This volume is the culmination of an unprecedented effort to document analyze and interpret the full extent of the challenge in developing Sub Saharan Africa s infrastructure sectors As a result it represents the most comprehensive reference currently available on infrastructure in the region The book covers the five main economic infrastructure sectors information and communication technology irrigation power transport and water and sanitation Africa s Infrastructure A Time for Transformation reflects the collaboration of a wide array of African regional institutions and development partners under the auspices of the Infrastructure Consortium for Africa It presents the findings of the Africa Infrastructure Country Diagnostic AICD a project launched following a commitment in 2005 by the international community after the G8 summit at Gleneagles Scotland to scale up financial support for infrastructure development in Africa The lack of reliable information in this area made it difficult to evaluate the success of past interventions prioritize current allocations and provide benchmarks for measuring future progress hence the need for the AICD Africa s infrastructure sectors lag well behind those of the rest of the world and the gap is widening Some of the main policy relevant findings highlighted in the book include the following infrastructure in the region is exceptionally expensive with tariffs being many times higher than those found elsewhere Inadequate and expensive infrastructure is retarding growth by 2 percentage points each year Solving the problem will cost over US 90 billion per year which is more than twice what is being spent in Africa today However money alone is not the answer Prudent policies wise management and sound maintenance can improve efficiency thereby stretching the infrastructure dollar There is the potential to recover an additional US 17 billion a year from within the existing infrastructure resource envelope simply by improving efficiency For example improved revenue collection and utility management could generate US 3.3 billion per year Regional power trade could reduce annual costs by US 2 billion And deregulating the trucking industry could reduce freight costs by one half So raising more funds without also tackling inefficiencies would be like pouring water into a leaking bucket Finally the power sector and fragile states represent particular challenges Even if every efficiency in every infrastructure sector could be captured a substantial funding gap of 31 billion a year would remain Nevertheless the African people and economies cannot wait any longer Now is the time to begin the transformation to sustainable development

Does Infrastructure Development Contribute to Poverty Reduction in Sub-Saharan Africa? Bruno Emmanuel Ongo Nkoa, Herve William Mougou A Ekoula, Georges Ngnouwal Eloundou, 2023 This paper assesses the effects of the development of infrastructural on the reduction of poverty in 35 countries of Sub Saharan Africa during the period 2003-2020 After multiple regressions using fixed effects random effects generalized least squares and Drisc Kraay methods we obtained several results The main results show that the development of infrastructure significantly reduces extreme poverty in sub Saharan Africa Our result remains robust by applying the GMM estimator which takes into account the endogeneity phenomenon A specific policy based on infrastructure development should be put in place to improve the standard of living of the population and increase the income of the population This would certainly lead to the reduction of extreme poverty in sub Saharan Africa

Sub-Saharan Africa: Effects of Infrastructure Conditions on Export Competitiveness, Third Annual Report, Inv. 332-477 , Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure, 2011-01-01 Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure Access Affordability and Alternatives integrates a wealth of primary and secondary information to present a quantitative snapshot of the state of the WSS sectors in Africa It explains the sectoral institutional structures and utility performance and articulates the volume and quality of financing available over time The authors also evaluate the challenges to the WSS sectors and explore the factors that govern the expansion of coverage over time Finally the authors estimate spending needs for WSS arriving at a funding gap for meeting the MDGs The proposed directions for the future draw on lessons learned from best practices and present the menu of choices available to African countries bearing in mind that the challenges differ to a significant extent among countries and solutions must be tailored to national or regional conditions Book Jacket

Human Rights and Standard of Living in Sub-Saharan Africa Augustine Edobor Arimoro, 2025-02-18 This book offers a comprehensive and nuanced examination of the right to an adequate standard of living in Sub Saharan Africa SSA shedding light on the multifaceted challenges opportunities and imperatives for action The right to an adequate standard of living is a fundamental human right essential for the dignity and well being of all individuals Yet in SSA the realisation of this right remains a complex and elusive goal with millions of people facing poverty inequality and limited access to basic services Through a series of in depth chapters the book explores the various dimensions of the right to an adequate standard of living from the pervasive impacts of poverty and inequality to the critical importance of access to healthcare education housing and justice Drawing on a rich array of case studies data and expert analysis the work provides a compelling and evidence based assessment of the current state of affairs in SSA highlighting the urgent need for comprehensive and context specific approaches to advancing this fundamental right Providing a roadmap for promoting sustainable and inclusive development reducing poverty and inequality and ensuring access to basic services for all the volume offers a set of actionable recommendations for policymakers practitioners and researchers working in the areas of Human Rights Law Development Law and in particular those focused on the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals At the same time it identifies key areas for further research and investigation underscoring the importance of ongoing knowledge generation and exchange in support of evidence based policy and practice Road Network Upgrading and Overland Trade Expansion in Sub-Saharan Africa Piet Buys,Uwe Deichmann,David Wheeler,2010 Recent research suggests that poor economic integration and isolation from regional and international markets have contributed significantly to poverty in Sub Saharan Africa Poor transport infrastructure and border restrictions are major deterrents to trade expansion which would stimulate economic growth and poverty reduction Using spatial network analysis techniques and gravity trade model estimations this paper quantifies the economics of upgrading a primary road network that connects the major urban areas in the region The results indicate that continental network upgrading is worth serious consideration from an economic perspective Our simulations suggest that overland trade among Sub Saharan African countries might expand by about 250 billion over 15 years with major direct and indirect benefits for the rural poor Financing the programme would require about 20 billion for initial upgrading and 1 billion annually for maintenance

Sustainable Public Procurement of Infrastructure and Human Rights Olga Martin-Ortega,Laura Treviño-Lozano,2023-03-02 This innovative book addresses the links between sustainability and human rights in the context of infrastructure projects and uncovers the human rights gap in every stage of public procurement processes to deliver on infrastructure assets or services
