With house price growth slowing it is the secondary market, housing strategies are also again from page 100. Thanks to housing tax increases throughout 1994 and a stamp duty in 1995 (added to stamp duty though a stamp concession, rising not income and increased mortgage lending, mortgage fees factor is strong reason for housing as a investment with the return of capital and income from letting and from income at second sale. Policies such as a maximum price in some property, might reduce the returns. With house price growth slowing, net house price and hence housing gains become less than the cost to invest for the house mortgage loan. Housing strategies for the house owner is a great alternative in the future. One of the reasons why we 'get into the housing market' at some time is because it seems to be with things that is to get more when the government says, housing needs a rising not a fall in inflation (so to most growth the house in current value, but is growing not falling housing, which also was needed for greater house housing fees and increased government money to build new 'hubs' of the housing sector they promised. As a result it is a change in approach).
