A History of Economic Thought, 10th Edition Lokanathan V., This book provides a comprehensive coverage of the origin and development of economic thought from the ancient times to the present day. It documents the contributions of major thinkers from the time of Hebrews to Maurice Dobb and the perspectives that influenced the economic thought. The book also provides an account of the recent trends in Indian economic thought and will be of interest and relevance to all students and scholars of the subject. It covers the syllabus of economic thought of major Indian universities.

Green Outcomes in the Real World Peter McManners, 2016-04-15 Over the last three decades the world economy has grown strongly on the back of globalization supported by the policies of free trade open markets and privatisation. Support has also grown for the concept of sustainability meeting the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. But as the Earth's systems come under increasing strain the inherent conflict between sustainability and globalization has been exposed. Green Outcomes in a Real World examines the shift in thinking required to reconcile these two important areas of policy. In this ground breaking book Peter McManners has coined the term Proximization to define a new policy framework. The principles of Proximization are sustainability subsidiarity primacy of the state and market economics and the application of these familiar concepts towards a sustainable globalised world is novel and different. The author argues that adherence to the principles of proximization will return world society to a stable natural order and will mean changes Global commodity flows will reduce and barriers to migration will increase National governments will demand more control over their finances leading to restrictions on capital flows Indeed Peter believes that an element of selfish determination is needed The new world order will be sustainable by design Global organisations such as the UN national governments and global corporations will have to understand and apply a different paradigm The arguments in this book do not reflect the idealism or even naivety of some of the green movement This book is about hard edged reality presented by an author with huge experience and a deep understanding of the business perspective It will appeal to a wide range of professionals involved in setting policy and future direction for businesses governments and non governmental bodies as well as to those with an academic interest in business economics social and environmental issues and public policy Manias, Panics, and

Crashes Robert Z. Aliber, Charles P. Kindleberger, Robert N. McCauley, 2023-03-06 In the Eighth Edition of this classic text on the financial history of bubbles and crashes Robert McCauley joins with Robert Aliber in building on Charles Kindleberger's renowned work McCauley draws on his central banking experience to introduce new chapters on cryptocurrency and the United States as the 21st Century global lender of last resort He also updates the book's coverage of the recent property bubble in China as well as providing new perspectives on the US housing bubble of 2003 2006 and the Japanese bubble of the late 1980s And he gives new attention to the social psychology that leads people to take the risk of investing in Ponzi schemes and asset price bubbles For the first time in this revised and updated edition figures highlight key points to ensure that today's generation of finance and economic researchers students practitioners and policy makers as well as investors looking to avoid crashes have access to this panoramic history of financial crisis Diverse Issues in Higher Education

, 2006 Estimating Impact Alexander Kott, Gary Citrenbaum, 2010-09-15 Sociological theories of crime include theories of strain blame crime on personal stressors theories of social learning blame crime on its social rewards and see crime more as an institution in conflict with other institutions rather than as individual deviance and theories of control look at crime as natural and rewarding and explore the formation of institutions that control crime Theorists of corruption generally agree that corruption is an expression of the Patron Client relationship in which a person with access to resources trades resources with kin and members of the community in exchange for loyalty Some approaches to modeling crime and corruption do not involve an explicit simulation rule based systems Bayesian networks game theoretic approaches often based on rational choice theory and Neoclassical Econometrics a rational choice based approach Simulation based approaches take into account greater complexities of interacting parts of social phenomena These include fuzzy cognitive maps and fuzzy rule sets that may incorporate feedback and agent based simulation which can go a step farther by computing new social structures not previously identified in theory The latter include cognitive agent models in which agents learn how to perceive their environment and act upon the perceptions of their individual experiences and reactive agent simulation which while less capable than cognitive agent simulation is adequate for testing a policy's effects with existing societal structures. For example, NNL is a cognitive agent model based on the REPAST Symphony toolkit.

Southern-Led Development Finance Diana

Barrowclough, Kevin P. Gallagher, Richard Kozul-Wright, 2020-09-29. Southern Led Development Finance examines some of the innovative new south-south financial arrangements and institutions that have emerged in recent years as countries from the Global South seek to transform their economies and to shield themselves from global economic turbulence. Even before the Covid-19 crisis it was clear to many that the global economy needed a reset and a massive increase in public investment. In the last decade, southern-owned development banks, infrastructure funds, foreign exchange reserve funds, and Sovereign Wealth Funds have doubled the amount of long-term finance available to developing countries. Now as the world considers what a post-Covid-19 future will look like, it is clear that Southern-led institutions will do much of the heavy lifting. This book brings together insights from theory and practice, incorporating the voices of bankers, policymakers, and practitioners alongside international academics. It covers the most significant new initiatives stemming from Asia, tried and tested examples in Latin America and in Africa, and the contribution of advanced economies. Whilst the book highlights the potential for Southern-led initiatives to change the global financial landscape profoundly, it also shows their varied impacts and concludes that more is needed for development than just the technical availability of funds. As governments and businesses become frustrated by the traditional North-dominated mechanisms and international financial system, this book argues that southern-led development finance will play an important role in the search for more inclusive, equitable, and sustainable patterns of investment, trade, and growth in the post-Covid landscape. It will be of interest to practitioners, policy makers, researchers, and students working on development and finance everywhere.

Post-Kyoto International Climate Policy Joseph E. Aldy, Robert N. Stavins, 2009-12-03. The Harvard Project on International Climate Agreements is a global multi disciplinary effort intended to help identify the key design elements of a scientifically sound, economically rational and politically pragmatic post 2012 international policy architecture for addressing the threat of climate change. It has commissioned leading scholars to examine a uniquely wide range of core issues that must be addressed if the world is to reach an effective agreement on a successor regime to the Kyoto Protocol. The purpose of the project is not to become an advocate for any single policy but to present the best possible information and analysis on the full range of options concerning mitigation, adaptation, technology and finance. The detailed findings of the Harvard Project are reported in this volume which contains twenty seven specially commissioned chapters. A companion volume summarizing the main findings of this research is published separately as Post Kyoto International Climate Policy Summary for Policymakers.

Politics, Religion, and Culture in an Anxious Age J. Buell, 2011-09-12. American politics is increasingly driven by apocalyptic rhetoric. Highlighting possible adverse consequences of such politics for our freedom and quality of life, the book suggests alternative policy agendas, religious and philosophical discourses, cultural framing and modes of daily living.
