Mba Project Report On Marketing:

The Project Manager's MBA Dennis J. Cohen, Robert J. Graham, 2001-07-09 Project managers are no longer judged by the technical success of their projects alone. They are also held accountable for their contributions to the company's financial goals. Yet most project managers don't have the business knowledge necessary to make project-based decisions that lead to bottom line success. In this book, Dennis Cohen and Robert Graham, both former university professors and experienced project management consultants, provide the skills that until now could only be gained through a graduate degree and years of hands-on experience. Cohen and Graham walk project managers through basic business concepts such as value creation, accounting, and finance strategy and marketing. They connect these concepts to the decisions project managers face every day. And they make it easy to apply the resulting solutions on the job through a unique business systems calculator. Readers can use the online calculator in conjunction with the book to understand how different project variables affect business outcomes, to determine the overall impact of proposed project changes, and to evaluate the economic results of many decisions they make. Cohen and Graham's principles apply equally to projects in business, non-profit, and government organizations. And each one is illustrated through case studies drawn from a range of industries, including pharmaceuticals, the technology sector, even the winemaking business. Whether the mandate is to get new products to market, improve the infrastructure, or better serve customers and clients, this book teaches project managers how to make day-to-day decisions from an upper management perspective. And it provides a blueprint for planning and pitching potential projects that demonstrates a higher level of business savvy.

Marketing Projects Olivier Mesly, 2020-01-24 Marketing is about placing a new product or service into the market. Projects are about delivering new products and services. The merger of these two fields holds great promise for delivering value to organizations and their clients. Project managers can serve many markets, ranging from investors who fund projects to that of clients who use new products and services. Marketing Projects is a guide for helping project managers have projects funded or deliver value to end users. It is also a guide for marketing managers new to the world of project management. The book begins by presenting the basics of both marketing and project management and highlights the aspects that are unique and relevant to both areas. It then explores marketing project feasibility and presents tools for assessing feasibility, which include the 6Ps of project management strategy: The project, 4Ps (plan, processes, people, and power), PRO (pessimistic, realistic, and optimistic scenarios), POVs (points of vulnerability), POE (point of equilibrium), POW (product, organization, and work breakdown structures), PWP (work, psychodynamics). This book illustrates how to use these tools to market new projects to potential sponsors and investors. It then explores marketing projects to end users. Crucial to the success of projects are the relationships between project managers and clients, and the way marketing experts implement their strategies. This book explains how project managers can develop meaningful relationships with clients to foster trust and have positive interactions. Project managers excel at managing the processes for delivering new products and services.

Marketers are keenly aware of latent or unconscious needs as well as those developing and emerging and can provide project promoters and managers with exciting ideas This book will help improve the mutual understanding between marketing and project managers an effort ultimately benefiting end users whether they be investors or customers A better work atmosphere and a closer fit between marketing and project management objectives can only serve the interests of investors and end users for whom marketers and project managers conceive and realize projects one way or the other Entrepreneurship Development Prof. Dr. J.
