architectural labor The Architect as Worker presents a range of essays exploring the issues central to architectural labor These include questions about the nature of design work immaterial and creative labor and how it gets categorized spatialized and monetized within architecture the connection between parametrics and BIM and labor theories of architectural work architectural design as a cultural and economic condition entrepreneurialism and the possibility of ethical and rewarding architectural practice The book is a call to arms and its ultimate goal is to change the practice of architecture It will strike a chord with architects who will recognize the struggle of their profession with students trying to understand the connections between work value and creative pleasure and with academics and cultural theorists seeking to understand what grounds the discipline

Thinking with Shakespeare Julia Reinhard Lupton, 2019-10-04 What is a person What company do people keep with animals plants and things Such questions bearing fundamentally on the shared meaning of politics and life animate Shakespearean drama yet their urgency has often been obscured Julia Reinhard Lupton gently dislodges Shakespeare's plays from their historical confines to pursue their universal implications From Petruchio's animals and Kate's laundry to Hamlet's friends and Caliban's childhood Lupton restages thinking in Shakespeare as an embodied act of consent cure and care Thinking with Shakespeare encourages readers to ponder matters of shared concern with the playwright by their side Taking her cue from Hannah Arendt Lupton reads Shakespeare for fresh insights into everything from housekeeping and animal husbandry to biopower and political theology
