Nick

This summer I went on a cruise around the Caribbean. I've got expensive tastes so I always live it up, 5-star hotels, casinos and limousines. It's important for me to catch some rays when I'm on holiday. I like to come home with a nice suntan. I don't really like having everything planned out on holiday. I prefer to see how the mood takes me and make decisions as I go.

Anna and Jon

We don't like going to really touristy places so we always choose somewhere which is off the beaten track. Some places have been a bit of a culture shock and in others we really had to watch our backs, but we're very adventurous. We normally go backpacking or hitchhiking so we have to travel light, we only pack the essentials. We don't have much money so we always travel on a shoestring; we normally stay in hostels or sleep on peoples' sofas. We've

Matt

I'm a real culture vulture; I feel right at home in a museum, gallery or historical building. When I go on holiday I like to get up at the crack of dawn and really make the most of the time by going to as many places as possible. I always find time to savour the local delicacies or sit and watch the world go by in a fancy café with a good coffee and a guide book.

Communicating Identities Gary Barkhuizen, Pat Strauss, 2020-02-20 Communicating Identities is a book for language teachers who wish to focus on the topic of identity in the context of their classroom teaching The work provides an accessible introduction to research and theory on language learner and language teacher identity It provides a set of interactive practical activities for use in language classrooms in which students explore and communicate about aspects of their identities The communicative activities concern the various facets of the students' own identities and are practical resources that teachers can draw on to structure and guide their students' exploration of their identities All the activities include a follow on teacher reflection in which teachers explore aspects of their own identity in relation to the learner identities explored in the activities The book also introduces teachers to practical steps in doing exploratory action research so that they can investigate identity systematically in their own classrooms Walking Forward, Looking Back Dinah Latham, 2014-10-28 The book tells the story of a retired district nurse and midwife reflecting on her life whilst walking with her close companion Harriet the dog It is a touchingly honest work written straight from the heart The reader will both laugh and cry as the author recounts many moving stories of patients cared for in 1960s London The writings so patently contrast care in the community then and now that it becomes impossible not to regret the passing of a time when nursing was seen as a vocation when nurses were proud to serve Divorce and single parenthood accompany her career journey while living alone escorts her into retirement It is then that fortune takes a hand or rather a paw and brings Harriet the dog into her life This may just have been the coming together of chance and good timing but destiny or happy accident it was certainly a blessing It was her need to be taken on daily walks that finds our author evoking memories randomly flicking through a lifetime of unwritten diaries Together they share their walks taking the reader through the changing seasons of the Chiltern countryside while also travelling a new pathway one with an unfamiliar landscape a one way journey into growing old This is a voyage of discovery one that promises many unexpected new experiences not the least of which is their most recent pastime
