Unequal Motherhoods and the Adoption of Asian Children Jungyun

Gill,2016-12-13 This book explores a deeply personal aspect of globalization the adoption of Asian children by white Americans It is based on dozens of interviews with adoptive mothers and adoption social workers nearly two hundred letters and essays written by Korean birth mothers who put their children up for adoption and field work at an adoption agency in South Korea It also includes analyses and explanations of U S and South Korean governments social characteristics and policies regarding adoptions and how relations between nations have affected international adoption The book focuses on whether the commonly held notion that adoptions are to serve children s welfare and their best interests has tended to render gendered aspects of international adoptions invisible Factors such as gender inequality social control of women s reproductive power patriarchic family structure and social beliefs concerning womanhood and motherhood that affect international adoptions are revealed in this book The multiple ways in which adoptive birth and foster mothers experience gender oppression from their different social positions of class race and nationality are explored and the interdependencies and inequalities of the motherhoods of these three groups of women are brought to light The Match Beth

Whitehouse,2010-04-01 My Sister's Keeper in nonfiction a family's real life struggle to cure their daughter by creating her genetic match Katie Trebing was diagnosed at three months old with Diamond Blackfan anemia a rare form of anemia that prevents bone marrow from producing red blood cells Even with a lifetime of monthly blood transfusions she faced a poor prognosis Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Beth Whitehouse follows the Trebing's as they make the decision to create a genetically matched sibling using preimplantation genetic diagnosis PGD and in vitro fertilization and proceed with a risky bone marrow transplant that could kill their daughter rather than save her The Match is a timely and provocative look at urgent issues that can only become more complex and pressing as genetic and reproductive technologies advance The Homework Myth Alfie Kohn,2007-04-03 Death and taxes come later what seems inevitable for children is the idea that after spending the day at school they must then complete more academic assignments at home The predictable results stress and conflict frustration and exhaustion Parents respond by reassuring themselves that at least the benefits outweigh the costs But what if they don't In The Homework Myth nationally known educator and parenting expert Alfie Kohn systematically examines the usual defenses of homework that it promotes higher achievement reinforces learning and teaches study skills and responsibility None of these assumptions he shows actually passes the test of research logic or experience So why do we continue to administer this modern cod liver oil or even demand a larger dose Kohn's incisive analysis reveals how a mistrust of children a set of misconceptions about learning and a misguided focus on competitiveness have all left our kids with less free time and our families with more conflict Pointing to parents who have fought back and schools that have proved educational excellence is possible without homework Kohn shows how we can rethink what happens during and after school in order to rescue our families and our children's love of learning Child Activist Literature at the Turn of the 2020s

Niall C. Nance-Carroll,2024-10-29 Child Activist Literature at the Turn of the 2020s From Kids You Read About to Kids You Read looks at how today's child activists are not just followers in their forekids' footsteps but blazers of new pathways employing sophisticated rhetorical strategies that invert and subvert conventional thinking on the roles of children in politics These young activists situate their work within a dense web of texts the ones they read the ones they write and the ones that they expect adults to deploy to dismiss them Nance Carroll analyzes texts authored by child activists alongside narratives of youth activism in literature and media and the stories activists tell about themselves and their work exploring issues of influence inspiration and authorship in child activist literature as a growing body of work challenges not just adults' assumptions about children and politics but also some fundamental disciplinary tenets of children's and young adult
