

My Pet Parrot

I have a pet parrot named Limi. Its colour is green.

My pet parrot has been living with us for the last two years.

I remember the day when we went to a pet shop to pick a pet. My brother and me chose that parrot. Because, it obey

Rāja-Çekhara's Karpūra-mañjarī, a drama, ed. with an essay on the life and writings of the poet by S. Konow and tr. into Engl. with notes by C.R. Lanman Rājaśekhara, 1900 Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane Desmond, 2016-08-18 The day isn't far off when no college student can graduate without having given serious thought to our relations with animals and to how to make our relations with animals less detrimental for them Animal studies clearly is a burgeoning field Jane Desmond has been a pioneer in the field for years conducting research onsite at major museums taxidermy conventions pet cemeteries a professional conference for pet obituary writers attending primatology meetings and many behind the scenes visits to zoos as well as hands on work with veterinary medicine in which she has recently earned a degree In this book we accompany the author as she meets Kanzi the bonobo watches an elephant paint attends a weeklong training session on how to enrich the lives of animals in confinement and helps prepare animal made art for auction Desmond focuses on the ways we relate to animals that underscore and highlight real animals with real individuality and with their own subjectivities The book plunges us into the world of museums taxidermy of pet cemeteries of animal obituaries of mourning and not mourning including roadkill as objects and also of art markets in animal generated art She is committed to preserving and informing our sense of once living breathing sweaty noisy moving animals active on the page This is the inaugural volume in our new Animal Lives series of which Desmond is the Directing Editor This book beautifully exemplifies the series goal of bridging disciplines and reaching across divisions among the humanities and social sciences to chart new territories of investigation

The Science Delusion Curtis White, 2013-05-28 One of our most brilliant social critics author of the bestselling The Middle Mind presents a scathing critique of the delusions of science alongside a rousing defense of the tradition of Romanticism and the big questions With the rise of religion critics such as Richard Dawkins and of pseudo science advocates such as Malcolm Gladwell and Jonah Lehrer you're likely to become a subject of ridicule if you wonder Why is there something instead of nothing or What is our purpose on earth Instead at universities around the world and in the general cultural milieu we're all being taught that science can resolve all questions without the help of philosophy politics or the humanities In short the rich philosophical debates of the 19th century have been nearly totally abandoned argues critic Curtis White An atheist himself White nonetheless calls this new turn scientism and fears what it will do to our culture if allowed to flourish without challenge In fact in scientism White sees a new religion with many unexamined assumptions In this brilliant multi part critique he aims at a TED talk by a distinguished neuroscientist in which we are told that human thought is merely the product of our connectome a map of neural connections in the brain that is yet to be fully understood He whips a widely respected physicist who argues that our new understanding of the origins of the universe obviates any philosophical inquiry and ends with a learned defense of the tradition of Romanticism which White believes our technology and science obsessed world desperately needs to rediscover It's the only way he argues that we can see our world clearly and change it
