Empathy and the Strangeness of Fiction Maria C. Scott, 2020-03-02

Explores how and why narrative fiction engages empathy including Theory of Mind Offers a broad overview of current scientific work on the effects of fiction reading on empathy including Theory of Mind
Provides an original intervention in the field of literary theory centring on the reflexive properties of the fictional stranger
Includes stand alone close readings of three novels by important French authors
This book studies recent psychological findings which suggest that reading fiction cultivates empathy encouraging us to be critically reflective suspicious readers as well as participatory nave readers
Scott draws on literary theory and close readings to argue that engagement with fictional stories also teaches us to resist uncritical forms of empathy and reminds us of the limitations of our ability to understand other people
The book treats figures of the stranger in Balzac's La Fille aux yeux d'or Stendhal's Le Rouge et le Noir and Sand's Indiana as emblematic of the strangeness of narrative fiction both drawing us in and keeping us at a distance

Spooky Technology: A reflection on the invisible and otherworldly qualities in everyday technologies Daragh Byrne, Dan Lockton, Matthew Cruz, Christi Danner, Karen Escarcha, Katherine Giesa, Meijie Hu, Yiwei Huang, Miranda Luong, Anuprita Ranade, Gordon Robertson, Elizabeth Wang, Lisa (Yip Yan) Yeung, Catherine Yochum, 2021-08-31
Spooky Technology explores our understanding of the invisible technologies in our everyday lives from objects with intelligence to systems in our homes that talk to us and each other
The book is an inventory of spooky technologies compiled by Carnegie Mellon students reviewing work across art design HCI psychology human factors research and other fields that has been done in this field or adjacent to it both historically and more recently with commentary essays and interviews with creators and artists
We often hear that the technologies in our everyday lives would appear to be magic and potentially terrifying to people in the past instantaneous communication with people all over the world access to a vast ever growing resource of human knowledge right there in the palm of our hand objects with intelligence that can sense and talk to us and each other
But rarely are these otherworldly dimensions of technologies explored in more detail
There is an often unspoken presumption that the march of progress will inevitably mean we all adopt new practices and incorporate new products and new ways of doing things into our lives all cities will become smart cities all homes will become smart homes
But these systems have become omnipresent without our necessarily understanding them
They are not just black boxes but invisible entities in our homes and everyday lives which work through hidden flows of data unknown agendas imaginary clouds mysterious sets of rules which we perhaps dismiss as algorithms or even AI without really understanding what that means
On some level the superstitions and sense of wonder and ways of relating to the unknown and the supernatural deities spirits ghosts which humanity has felt in every culture throughout history have not gone away but started to become transferred and transmuted into new forms

Theorizing Digital Rhetoric takes up the intersection of rhetorical theory and digital technology to explore the ways in which rhetoric is challenged by new technologies and how rhetorical theory can illuminate discursive expression in digital contexts The volume combines complex rhetorical theory with personal anecdotes about the use of technologies to create a larger philosophical and rhetorical account of how theorists approach the examinations of new and future digital technologies This collection of essays emphasizes the ways that digital technology intrudes upon rhetorical theory and how readers can be everyday rhetorical critics within an era of ever increasing use of digital technology Each chapter effectively blends theorizing between rhetoric and digital technology informing readers of the potentiality between the two ideas The theoretical perspectives informed by digital media studies rhetorical theory and personal professional use provide a robust accounting of digital rhetoric that is timely personable and useful Quantum Non-Locality, Entanglement and Psychic Phenomena Bruno Del Medico,2024-12-12 In the realm of quantum non locality unfold the plots of a physics that defies intuition and questions the laws of our traditional understanding It is a domain where the wonders of entanglement defy distance and time turning into an enigma capable of shaking the foundations of our scientific and philosophical paradigms Quantum non locality raises questions that are intertwined with the realm of the paranormal suggesting perspectives and parallels that although often enclosed in the sphere of mystery can be peered at in a new conceptual and scientific light This book was created with the intention of exploring and elucidating the fundamentals of this fascinating phenomenology beginning with a clear distinction between the notion of locality emblematic of classical physics and the extraordinary behavior of quantum non locality In classical physics interactions between objects occur directly within the boundaries of space and time an approach that strictly respects the separation principle In this context any action must necessarily take place through some kind of medium or through a measurable interaction However quantum mechanics grounded in a probabilistic concept breaks these limits by showing how particles once correlated can influence each other in ways that defy spatial separation In the second part the book explores the theoretical and experimental evidence for non locality through Alain Aspect s experiments and Bell s test crucial in proving that quantum predictions are real and verifiable Such experiments constituted a milestone in the paradigm shift from a deterministic to a probabilistic universe where particles at immeasurable distances share a deeper bond refractory to the exacting eyes of classical determinism The fundamental implications of this approach are twofold On the one hand there arises the possibility of rethinking the concept of reality where separation is no longer an insurmountable constraint On the other hand the opportunity to interpret phenomena hovering between recognized science and the margins of the paranormal materializes from a new perspective Many renowned scientists such as Dean Radin psychologist and consciousness researcher suggest that non locality could explain experiences such as telepathy clairvoyance or even extra sensory perception prestigious examples of long standing themes associated with the paranormal The cultural and theoretical link between quantum physics and the paranormal also has its roots in figures such as Erwin Schrödinger With his famous cat paradox Schrödinger not only proposed a thought experiment that defies the classical logic of simultaneity of states but also brought the scientific community closer albeit ironically to concepts that normally reside beyond the boundary of scientific orthodoxy This gave rise to a fluid and debated field a controversial bridge between scientific theories and widely popular beliefs The book thoroughly examines all possible connections In conclusion the text guides the reader along a road that while revealing unexplored parts of the quantum universe retraces the path of ontological and philosophical questions about the very nature of reality and consciousness It is a narrative that aims to bring into dialogue science and traditions human experience and theoretical mathematics in the hope of creating an intellectual canvas that explores without bias the potential of the human mind and the reality in which it operates

On the Road to Baghdad, Or, Traveling Biculturalism Gönül Pultar, 2005 About the Book This is a collection of essays on fiction written in English Spanish and Bengali that has emerged recently This fiction is seen to reflect biculturalism that is the amalgam of two cultures that are both hegemonic in their own ways This approach provides insight into the works discussed by uncovering elements of the the seemingly other non Euroculture and elevates both cultures to the same level Authors discussed in the essays include Black British Caryl Phillips Chicana Sandra Cisneros Chinese American Maxine Hong Kingston Cuban American Dolores Prida Danish Izak Dinesen Greek Americans Nikos Papandreou and Catherine Temma Davidson Kenyan Ngugi wa Thiong'o Japanese American John Okada New Zealander Patricia Grace Peruvian Jos Maria Arguedas Turkish American G neli G n and contemporary English language Indian authors Vikram Chandra Chitra B Divakaruni Attia Hosain Manju Kapur Arundhati Roy Salman Rushdie as well as Rabindranath Tagore Praise Perhaps only a decade ago such an ambitious world spanning project would have seemed absurd outside a congress of anthropologists or bankers Today it represents a state of the art sensibility reflecting the efforts of an equally various geocultural assembly of scholars The implications for a community of readers not only interested in but competently sensitive to such far flung narrative geographies is equally stunning William Boelhower University of Padua Italy Author of Through a Glass Darkly Ethnic Semiosis in American Literature The Athenaeum, 1903 The Athenaeum James Silk Buckingham, John Sterling, Frederick Denison Maurice, Henry Stebbing, Charles Wentworth Dilke, Thomas Kibble Hervey, William Hepworth Dixon, Norman Maccoll, Vernon Horace Rendall, John Middleton Murry, 1902 Supernatural Fiction Writers Richard Bleiler, 2003 The Scribner Writers Series has set the standard for literary reference for more than 25 years In addition to addressing the lives and careers of important writers the articles discuss the themes and a styles of major works and place them in pertinent historical social and political concerns for today's readers Novelists playwrights essayists poets short story writers and more recently genre writers in science fiction and mystery are all expertly discussed in the more than 17 sets comprising this series To see listings of writers for any volume in this section go to the Scribner Writers Series section online at www.gale.com/scribners J K Rowling Peter Straub Anne McCaffrey these are among the many widely read authors in fantasy and horror genres covered in this addition to Scribner's 1985 two volume set Essays written by scholars yet accessible to the general reader and student treat both writers who have risen to prominence since the 1985 edition and those whose careers have continued since original coverage such as Stephen King Ursula K LeGuin and Harlan Ellison The index cumulates the index from the first two volumes Theology Beyond Metaphysics Anthony Bartlett, 2020-12-08 A theory of human origins that is one half Charles Darwin and one half Cain and Abel is bound to entail a lot of rethinking of traditional themes Ren Girard's thesis of original human violence and the Bible's power to reveal it has been around for more than a generation but its consequences for Christian theology are still only slowly being unpacked Anthony Bartlett's book makes a signal contribution representing an astonishing leap forward in understanding what a biblical disclosure of founding violence means for Christian thought and life If human language arose directly out of the primal experience of murder then semiotics becomes a core area for theological examination Tracing the discipline of semiotics through postmodern thinkers then back through its birth in the Latin era Bartlett shows how Girard's thought is itself a semiotic emergence beyond standard Christian metaphysics Above all Girardian theory of human signs demands we see the generative impact of violence in our language and thought and then conversely that the Word of God crucified without retaliation and risen in the same identity brings a totally new sign and relation into history offering a thoroughgoing transformation of human life and meaning The Horn Book Magazine ,1986
