Scientific Information Transfer: The Editor's Role M. Balaban,2012-12-06 It was Faraday who in 1821 said that there are three necessary stages of useful research The first to begin it the second to end it and the third 1 to publish it There has since indeed been so much research and publication that we have become increasingly alarmed by the galloping proliferation of scientific information produced in relation to the user s ability to retrieve and consume it effectively conveniently and creatively In 1948 to deal with this concern the Royal Society Scientific Information Conference held in London spanned the whole realm of scientific information Sir Robert Robinson President of the Royal Society in his opening address noted that the study of scientific information services in all its ramifications has enormous scope and the London conference dealt with scientific publication format editorial policy subject grouping organization abstracting reviews classification indexing and training of information officers It was about this time that information science began to develop more on the retrieval end so it seems logical that the first editors group founded in 1949 was ICSU AB the International Council of Scientific Unions Abstracting Board In 1958 the National Academy of Sciences International Conference of 2 Scientific Information in Washington limited its interests and expanded on the later phases of the life cycle of information storage and retrieval HW0188 Engineering Communication I Kingsley Bolton,2017-09-22 This is the coursebook for Engineering Communication I a one semester 2 credit course that aims to enhance students abilities in academic communication related to their studies in engineering as well as in professional communication Professional engineers not only need expert knowledge relating to engineering but they also need to be able to communicate that knowledge both to their professional colleagues and also to the wider community This coursebook is designed specifically for the Engineering Communication I course which aims to help improve students skills in both areas of communication Accessibly written and rigorously researched it provides up to date engineering specific vocabulary and exercises to assist students in mastering Engineering Communication I Please note As HW0001 English Proficiency is a co requisite for this course please ensure that you have completed the course signed up for it this semester or obtained exemption from this requirement
