Branded Bodies, Rhetoric, and the Neoliberal Nation-State Jennifer Wingard, 2012-11-29

Branded Bodies Rhetoric and the Neoliberal Nation State by Dr Jennifer Wingard explores how neoliberal economics has affected the rhetoric of the media and politics and how in very direct material ways it harms the bodies of some of the United States most vulnerable occupants The book is written at a moment when the promise of the liberal nation state in which the government purports to care for its citizens through social welfare programs financed by state funds is eroding Currently state policies are defined by neoliberal governmentality a form which privileges privatization and individual personal responsibility Instead of the promise of citizenship and the protections that come with it or the American Dream to use a more common euphemism the state uses certain bodies that will never be accepted as citizens as an underclass in service of capital think Guest Worker Programs And those underclassed bodies are identified through branding In order to demonstrate just how damaging branding has become Wingard offers readings of key pieces of legislation on immigration and GLBT rights and their media reception from the past twenty years By showing how brands are assembled to create affective threats Branded Bodies Rhetoric and the Neoliberal Nation State articulates how dangerous the branding of bodies has become and offers rhetorical strategies that can repair the damage to bodies caused by political branding Branded Bodies then is an intervention into the rhetorical practices of the nation state It attempts to clarify how the nation state uses brands to forward its claims of equality and freedom all the while condemning those who do not fit in to particular categories valued by the neoliberal state

Sustainability in Public Procurement, Corporate Law and Higher Education Lela Melon, 2023-12-12 Contemporary changes in law and policy at the global level to efficiently answer to environmental and social issues correspond to the traditional approach of limiting the regulatory and policy changes to a singular field or discipline tackling the inherent unsustainability of corporate laws or incentivising the offering of sustainable finance to stimulate the transition towards sustainable practices This book provides a new viewpoint and approach of simultaneously regulating seemingly non connected fields in order to provide a fertile ground for a truly organic change towards sustainable outcomes It addresses diverse questions of sustainable transition of the three specific fields to support sustainable practices in public procurement private market transaction and in educating future business leaders and legal experts by incorporating sustainable concerns as the underlying guiding principles of their conduct It translates scientific findings into a practical format that can be used by diverse stakeholders searching for information and solutions in their respective professional fields The underlying assumption is that a simultaneous action in the three respective fields of public procurement corporate law and higher education brings about more coherent and interconnected results that incentivise further action and changes towards sustainable practices The book furthers the idea of policy coherence by building upon the findings in the field of public procurement corporate law and practice and higher education curricula By identifying the barriers in the three respective fields for sustainable action and proposing solutions for either eliminating or minimising those barriers at the EU level the book calls for further changes in the respective fields as well as for considering the spillover effects of these policies on other fields

Corporate Power and Human Rights Manette Kaisershot, Nicholas Connolly, 2018-02-02 There is ample evidence about the negative effects business activity of all types can have on the provision of human rights Equally there can be little doubt economic development usually driven through business activity and trade is necessary for any state to provide the institutions and infrastructure necessary to secure and provide human rights for their citizens The United Nations and businesses recognise this tension and are collaborating to effect change in business behaviours through voluntary initiatives such as the Global Compact and John Ruggie's Guiding Principles Yet voluntary approaches are evidently failing to prevent human rights violations and there are few alternatives in law for affected communities to seek justice This book seeks to robustly challenge the current status quo of business approaches to human rights in order to develop meaningful alternatives in an attempt to breach the gap between the realities of business and human rights and its discourse This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of Human Rights Social Justice and the World of Work Brian Langille, Anne Trebilcock, 2023-02-23 In this book leading international thinkers take up the demanding challenge to rethink our understanding of social justice at work and our means for achieving it at a time when global forces are tearing the familiar fabric of our working lives and the laws regulating them When fabric is torn we can see deeply into it understand its structural weaknesses and imagine alterations in the name of resilience and sustainability Seizing that opportunity the authoritative commentators examine the lessons revealed by the pandemic and other global shocks for our ideas about justice at work and how to advance that cause in the world as we now find it The chapters deliver critical reassessments of our goals explore our new challenges and creatively reimagine trajectories for progress on two global fronts via international institutions and by a myriad of other transnational techniques These forward looking essays are in honour of Francis Maupain whose international career and scholarly writing are inspiring models for those who in a changing world seize opportunities for creativity in the pursuit of global justice at work Discretion in EU Public Procurement Law Sanja Bogojevic, Xavier Groussot, Jörgen Hettne, 2019-05-30 The EU public procurement regime has recently undergone an overhaul and now allows Member States and their contracting authorities to pursue strategic goals via public procurement including environmental and social objectives The extent to which such interests may be accommodated in the procurement process is ultimately determined by the broader legal context in which the EU public procurement regime exists which raises pressing questions regarding the scope and limits of Member States discretion This volume scrutinises these new legal acts particularly Directive 2014/24/EU focusing on discretion and engaging with questions central to the public procurement regime against the EU legal backdrop including internal market law and environment law as well as law beyond the EU
