gender as well as social status Gusto for Things reconstructs the material lives of seventeenth century Romans exploring new ways of thinking about the meaning of things as a historical phenomenon Through creative use of account books inventories wills and other records Renata Ago examines early modern attitudes toward possessions asking what people did with their things why they wrote about them and how they passed objects on to their heirs While some inhabitants of Rome were connoisseurs of the paintings books and curiosities that made the city famous Ago shows that men and women of lesser means also filled their homes with a more modest array of goods She also discovers the genealogies of certain categories of things for instance books went from being classed as luxury goods to a category all their own and considers what that reveals about the early modern era An animated investigation into the relationship between people and the things they buy Gusto for Things paints an illuminating portrait of the meaning of objects in preindustrial Europe
