Unizulu ,1992 Unizulu University of Zululand,1984-11 Enhancing Student Learning and Development in Cross-Border Higher Education Dennis C. Roberts,Susan R. Komives,2016-09-27 Higher education is expanding internationalizing and changing rapidly around the world Yet many of the broader international higher education community and funders are unaware that much of what the United States has achieved in quality higher education derives from the student affairs staff This volume addresses the opportunities and challenges in creating student learning and development programs and strategies that are culturally appropriate and use best practices from regions around the world This volume includes suggestions using the whole institutional environment curriculum and co curriculum examples from China Mexico Singapore South Africa and the United Kingdom and holistic and engaging approaches through student affairs student development and student services This will be of interest to all those who value quality higher education no matter what their role The intent is to convince broader constituencies of the merit of enhancing the student experience so that students worldwide will benefit from enhanced learning and development opportunities This is the 175th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Higher Education Addressed to presidents vice presidents deans and other higher education decision makers on all kinds of campuses it provides timely information and authoritative advice about major issues and administrative problems confronting every institution John Dun Cetywayo and the Three Generals, 1861-1879 D. C. F. Moodie,2014-05-31 John Dunn resembling a hero of fiction rather than a normal man was one of the most extraordinary characters of 19th century South Africa In 1852 at the age of 16 he turned his back on the fledgeling colonial settlement of Port Natal and crossing the Tugela River headed into Zululand King Cetshwayo recorded his first meeting with Dunn mentioning that the night had been bitterly cold I ordered the servants to bring him in and a tall splendidly made man appear He was dressed in rags I loved this white man as my brother and made him one of my induna chiefs Such was Cetshwayo s generosity despite Dunn having earlier fought on the side of the king s brother during the Zulu War of Succession in which twenty thousand died in a single battle Undear Cetshwayo s patronage Dunn became a Zulu chief in every respect except for the colour of his skin Later when still under 20 he was educated by a British officer and accepted into colonial society thus allowing him to lead the double life of an English gentleman and when he crossed back over the Tugela to his 49 wives that of a powerful Zulu induna He also assisted King Cetshwayo in supplying the Zulu army with a vast number of guns When war was declared in 1879 Dunn wished to remain neutral but treacherously sided against his friend and benefactor the Zulu king With the British victorious Sir Garnet Wolseley who thought Dunn to be a very fine fellow divided Zululand into five Kinglets and proclaimed Dunn overlord of the largest This autobiography is not only a fascinating insight into one of the most influential men in Natal history but also states his candid perception of several British generals including Lord Chelmsford and Sir Garnet Wolseley Further Correspondence Respecting the Affairs of Zululand and

Adjacent Territories ,1886 Bantu Authorities Veronica Ehrenreich-Risner,2022-02-18 In Bantu Authorities Apartheid's System of Race and Ethnicity Veronica Ehrenreich Risner provides the first holistic study of the Bantu Authorities BA system that implemented rural apartheid. The system extended segregation by including ethnoscience theory to establish underfunded self governing homelands to curb the expense of native administration yet retain control of the cheap labor upon which white capital depended. Based on over sixty interviews with Zulus and former commissioners and archival research Bantu Authorities proves the primary objective of the system was to protect white capital with white racial purity secondary. Ehrenreich Risner argues that the system disrupted the Brownlee tradition of guardianship for commissioners and the tradition of reciprocity for ubukhosi. Bantu Authorities ends by examining the lingering consequences of rural apartheid and asks what rural Africans have gained with majority rule when they remain bound to BA structures Incomplete Without My Brother, Adonis Kaizer Mabhilidi Nyatumba,2014-07-22 We walked on a patch of grass that seemed to have been burnt a few hours earlier with soot covering our feet. There in front of us lay my beloved brother Adonis lifeless his body facing up. There were numerous stab wounds on his body including his face and his lumber jacket was half burnt. Thus begins Kaizer Nyatumba's tragic story of his twin brother's horrible murder. It is also an intriguing look into aspects of South African life hitherto unknown to many. They were twins of a special kind the closest of friends and each other's confidantes. Their mothers were sisters they were inseparable when they grew up they were the first graduates in the extended family and were the ones the family depended on for leadership. When Adonis was brutally murdered in the Pretoria area in June 2009 Kaizer was shattered and his life irrevocably changed. A part of him died with Adonis and he has yet to come fully to terms with the loss. A very private man the author bares his soul in this book Macmillan's Magazine ,1878 Secrecy and Responsibility in the Era of an Epidemic Hanne Overgaard Mogensen,2020-07-29 A narrative ethnography about a Ugandan woman and her relatives this novelistic fine grained volume shows how global questions of responsibility and inequity travel in family networks and confront people with decisions about life and death. It is a story of existence under extremely challenging conditions about belonging and marginalization about the opacity and ambiguity of social relations and about growing up in a country haunted by violence and civil war only to be later lifted by optimism and devastated anew by the AIDS epidemic. The story draws on long term fieldwork and letters from the woman who takes centre stage in the story while at once providing unique and privileged insight into the ethical challenges of a research method that demands personal involvement that is ultimately withdrawn for scholarly analysis The Mammals of the Southern African Sub-region J. D. Skinner,Christian T. Chimimba,2005-11-15 This comprehensive volume covers all mammals that occur naturally on the African mainland south of the Cunene and Zambezi rivers and also in the subregion's coastal waters. Extensively revised and updated for the new edition it now includes the latest data from mammal research in southern Africa along with the radical taxonomic changes across all levels of mammalian classification. Containing contributions from specialists on each mammalian order each species description has been reviewed by a range of independent and internationally recognised authorities Along with the latest taxonomic information the distribution maps and illustrations have been updated and redrawn several new colour plates have been added and the whole design has been enhanced to aid access to key information This is the most comprehensive and up to date survey of southern African mammals and forms an essential reference for zoologists evolutionary biologists and anyone wanting an overview of the region s wildlife

Utilisation of South African Research on Higher Education Jan Botha ,Gabriele Vilyte,2021-10-26 The relationship between research on the one hand and policy practice on the other hand is complicated and collaboration between scholars in research on higher education RHE and institutional research IR practitioners is often lacking This book marks a collaborative effort of a diverse range of South African RHE and IR scholars and asks the overarching questions What do we know about the utilisation of South African research on higher education SARHE and its subset of research known as Institutional Research How and by whom is this research used The book begins by looking at the historical underpinnings of SARHE and delineating the shape and size of this body of research This is followed by a series of case studies on South African Higher Education institutions and governmental bodies investigating how when and by whom are research on higher education and institutional research used in the decision making of these organisations This book is the first of its kind in South Africa and sets out to lay the groundwork for further research into the use uptake and utilisation of RHE and IR in this country
