Islam: A Victim of Terrorism, 2003 Since the beginning of human history violence has existed as a means to achieve political social or economic goals The use of violence is related to religion The followers of new religious movements have been persecuted by the followers of established religious movements Today there are many religious groups accused of terrorist acts in the world One of these religions is Islam The western media for a long period of time has tried to mark the Islamic faith as a religion promoting hostility violence and terrorism all carried out in the name of God This got worse after the tragic attack on the United States that took place on September 11 2001 by Islamic militants A detailed examination of Islam its history and tenets will reveal that the religion is not the cause of terrorism but a victim of terrorism Is Islam an Enemy of the West? Tamara Sonn, 2016-11-17 New York Washington Madrid London and now Paris the list of Western cities targeted by radical Islamic terrorists waging global jihad continues to grow Does this extreme violence committed in the name of Islam point to a fundamental enmity between the Muslim faith and the West In this compelling essay leading scholar of Islam Tamara Sonn argues that whilst the West has many enemies among Muslims it is politics not religion that informs their grievances The longer these demands remain frustrated the more violence has escalated and recruitment to groups like Islamic State has increased Far from quelling the spread of Islamic extremism Western military intervention has helped to turn nationalist movements into radical terrorist groups with international agendas Islam Sonn concludes is not the problem just as war is not the solution Islam and Sectarian Violence in Pakistan Eamon Murphy, 2018-10-23 This book analyses the growth of sectarian based terrorist violence in Pakistan one of the Muslim majority states most affected by sectarian violence ever since it was established in 1947 Sectarian violence among Muslims has emerged as a major global security problem in recent years The author argues that the upsurge in sectarian violence in Pakistan particularly since the late 1970s has had less to do with theological differences between the various sects of Islam but is a consequence of the specific political social economic demographic and cultural changes that have taken place in Pakistan since it was established as an independent state A major theme of the book is the increasing violence extent and expressions of sectarian conflict which have emerged as new forms of sectarian terrorism The volume provides an in depth empirical case study which addresses some major theoretical questions raised by Critical Terrorism Studies researchers in respect of the links between religion and sectarian terrorism in Pakistan and more widely This book will be of much interest to students of critical terrorism studies Asian politics and history religious studies and International Relations in general 50 Great Myths About Religions John Morreall, Tamara Sonn, 2014-04-03 50 Great Myths about Religions is an intriguing informative and often humorous introduction to some of the long standing myths that surround religious belief This engaging book will get its readers thinking about how and why certain myths have arisen and their continuing influence on our personal and collective view of religion Offers a lively informative and thought provoking introduction to some of the common misbeliefs surrounding religions Discusses myths about religious belief in general as well as specific ideas that surround Judaism Christianity Islam atheism and agnosticism Covers a wide range of myths from ancient legends such as the Bible forbidding pork being eaten because it causes illness to modern urban fables such as Barack Obama being a Muslim Unpacks each myth in turn explaining why it arose how it spread and why the beliefs that stem from it are questionable Includes a fascinating discussion about human nature and the main characteristics that predispose us to create and circulate myths to begin with Underpinned by a wide knowledge of academic research it is written by two respected religion scholars and experienced authors What Is Moderate Islam? Richard L. Benkin, 2017-04-12 Radical Islam is a major affliction of the contemporary world Each year radical Islamists carry out terrorist attacks that result in a massive death toll almost all involving noncombatants and innocents Estimates of how many Muslims could be considered followers of radical Islam vary widely and there are few guides to help determine moderates versus radicals Observers often sit at the extremes either seeing all Muslims as open or closeted jihadis or recoiling from any attempt to link Islam with international terror Both positions are overly simplistic and the lack of rational principles to absolve the innocent and identify the accomplices of terror has led to governments and individuals mistakenly accepting jihadis as moderate What is Moderate Islam brings together an array of scholars Muslims and non Muslims to provide this missing insight This wide ranging collection examines the relationship among Islam civil society and the state The contributors including both Muslims and non Muslims investigate how radical Islamists can be distinguished from moderate Muslims analyze the potential for moderate Islamic governance and challenge monolithic conceptions of Islam The Islamic Law of War A. Al-Dawoody, 2011-03-28 Al Dawoody examines the justifications and regulations for going to war in both international and domestic armed conflicts under Islamic law He studies the various kinds of use of force by both state and non state actors in order to determine the nature of the Islamic law of war TEDified Islam Jasbeer Musthafa Mamalipurath, 2024-07-29 This book represents one of the initial comprehensive studies of TED Talks on Islam It situates TED Talks on Islam as postsecular secular s renewed interest in faith discourse and asks how TED represents and narrates Islam It also examines the perspectives of both Muslim and non Muslim TED viewers about TED s storytelling strategies as well as on the platform Finally the book studies the features of the authority that both Muslim and non Muslim TED speakers embody as spokespersons of Islam By doing so this book offers an empirical and context oriented understanding of postsecular storytelling by problematising the secular translations of Islam

On Saudi Arabia Karen Elliott House, 2012-09-18 From the Pulitzer Prize winning reporter who has spent the last thirty years writing about Saudi Arabia as diplomatic correspondent foreign editor and then publisher of The Wall Street Journal an important and timely book that explores all facets of life in this shrouded Kingdom its tribal past its complicated present its precarious future Through observation anecdote extensive interviews and analysis Karen Elliot House navigates the maze in which Saudi citizens find themselves trapped and reveals the mysterious nation that is the world s largest exporter of oil critical to global stability and a source of Islamic terrorists In her probing and sharp eyed portrait we see Saudi Arabia one of the last absolute monarchies in the world considered to be the final bulwark against revolution in the region as threatened by multiple fissures and forces its levers of power controlled by a handful of elderly Al Saud princes with an average age of 77 years and an extended family of some 7 000 princes Yet at least 60 percent of the increasingly restive population they rule is under the age of 20 The author writes that oil rich Saudi Arabia has become a rundown welfare state The public pays no taxes gets free education and health care and receives subsidized water electricity and energy a gallon of gasoline is cheaper in the Kingdom than a bottle of water with its petrodollars buying less and less loyalty House makes clear that the royal family also uses Islam s requirement of obedience to Allah and by extension to earthly rulers to perpetuate Al Saud rule Behind the Saudi facade of order and obedience today s Saudi youth frustrated by social conformity are reaching out to one another and to a wider world beyond their cloistered country Some 50 percent of Saudi youth is on the Internet 5.1 million Saudis are on Facebook To write this book the author interviewed most of the key members of the very private royal family She writes about King Abdullah s modest efforts to relax some of the kingdom s most oppressive social restrictions women are now allowed to acquire photo ID cards finally giving them an identity independent from their male guardians and are newly able to register their own businesses but are still forbidden to drive and are barred from most jobs With extraordinary access to Saudis from key religious leaders and dissident imams to women at university and impoverished widows from government officials and political dissidents to young successful Saudis and those who chose the path of terrorism House argues that most Saudis do not want democracy but seek change nevertheless they want a government that provides basic services without subjecting citizens to the indignity of begging princes for handouts a government less corrupt and more transparent in how it spends hundreds of billions of annual oil revenue a kingdom ruled by law not royal whim In House s assessment of Saudi Arabia s future she compares the country today to the Soviet Union before Mikhail Gorbachev arrived with reform policies that proved too little too late after decades of stagnation under one aged and infirm Soviet leader after another She discusses what the next generation of royal princes might bring and the choices the kingdom faces continued economic and social stultification with growing risk of instability or an opening of society to individual initiative and enterprise with the risk that this too undermines the Al Saud hold on power A riveting book informed authoritative illuminating about a country that could well be on the brink and an in depth examination of what all this portends for Saudi Arabia s future and for our own The New Faces of Victimhood Rianne Letschert, Jan van Dijk, 2011-01-21 Besides generating wealth globalization makes victims including victims of new forms of crime In this edited book of scholarly essays international lawyers and criminologists reflect on the legal challenges posed by these dark sides of globalization Examples include transnational organised crime human trafficking and corruption cyber crimes international terrorism global corporate crime and cross border environmental crimes The authors reflect on the limits of domestic systems of justice in providing protection empowerment and redress to the victims of these emerging forms of global insecurity They argue for the need of better international or supra national institutional arrangements such as legal instruments and actions of the United Nations or regional organizations such as the European Union In part I Jan Van Dijk and Rianne Letschert present an overview of trends in criminal victimization against the backdrop of globalization using a unique set of statistical indicators By placing this issue in the framework of the human security concept the authors draw out its broader political and normative implications Theologist Ralf Bodelier explains how modern communication technologies have heightened sensitivities among the general public for human insecurities anywhere in the world In his view a new global conscience is in the making that may become the cornerstone of international solidarity and action Marc Groenhuijsen and Rianne Letschert describe the emergence of national and international legal and institutional arrangements to offer remedies to victims of crime in an era of globalization In part II a selection of experts analyse the specific issues surrounding the protection and empowerment of victims of different types of international crimes such as human trafficking organised crime corruption terrorism global corporate crime and cross border environmental crimes In part III focused attention is given to the special challenges and opportunities of protecting and assisting crime victims in cyberspace Part IV deals with emerging victim issues in humanitarian law such as the accountability of private military companies and the implementation of the ambitious victim provisions in the statute of the International Criminal Court including the establishment of a global fund for reparations In the final part of the book some of its core authors formulate their ideas about the international institutional arrangements that should be put in place to offer justice to the victims of globalization A concrete proposal is made for the transformation of the United Nations 1985 Declaration on the Principles of Justice for Victims of Crime and Abuse of Power into a full fledged UN convention In the final chapter further proposals are made for the increased involvement of regional organisations such as the European Union in the protection of victims of global crime The Third Pan-African Revolution Bidiga Abdoul-Bassiti, A tri civilizational war is ongoing to which Africa has attempted to respond over three distinct periods each marked by divergent realities The current third revolution is set against an African context that has long served as a laboratory for new economic structures unions and tools of economic and psychological warfare among others Through this diversity of experiments and models imposed by the leaders of the old world order African potential continues to be hindered preventing local populations from fully benefiting There is even a risk to the survival of the Black African civilization Hence there is an urgent need to rethink the only effective response that has been implemented since 3200 BC Pan Africanism particularly considering the geo economic imperatives that underpin this war of civilizations The United Nations, Peace and Security Ramesh Thakur,2017 Explains the United Nations key roles in underwriting international security humanitarian protection and the international rule of law

Islamophobia and Anti-Muslim Sentiment Peter Gottschalk,Gabriel Greenberg,2018-07-19 In the minds of many Americans Islam is synonymous with the Middle East Muslim men with violence and Muslim women with oppression A clash of civilizations appears to be increasingly manifest and the war on terror seems a struggle against Islam These are all symptoms of Islamophobia Meanwhile the current surge in nativist bias reveals the racism of anti Muslim sentiment This book explores these anxieties through political cartoons and film media with immediate and important impact After providing a background on Islamic traditions and their history with America it graphically shows how political cartoons and films reveal Americans casual demeaning and demonizing of Muslims and Islam a phenomenon common among both liberals and conservatives Islamophobia and Anti Muslim Sentiment offers both fascinating insights into our culture s ways of picturing the enemy as Muslim and ways of moving beyond antagonism

Gender and Political Violence Candice D. Ortobals,Lori M. Poloni-Staudinger,2018-03-09 This book examines the role of gender in political conflicts worldwide specifically the intersection between gender and terrorism Political violence has historically been viewed as a male domain with men considered the perpetrators of violence and power and women as victims without power Whereas men and masculinity are associated with war and aggression women and femininity conjure up socially constructed images of passivity and peace This distinction of men as aggressors and women as passive victims denies women their voice and agency This book investigates how women cope with and influence violent politics and is both a descriptive and analytical attempt to describe in what ways women are present or absent in political contexts involving political violence and how they deal with gender assumptions express gender identities and frame their actions regarding political violence encountered in their lives The book looks to reach beyond the notion of women as victims of terrorism or genocide without agency and to recognize the gendered nature of political conflicts and how women respond to violence This book will be of interest to advanced undergraduate and graduate students in political science sociology cultural studies and gender studies academics in terrorism studies and gender studies government officials NGOs and professionals working in areas of violent conflict The Extreme Right in Europe Uwe Backes,Patrick Moreau,2011-12-07 The present work deals not only with the well organized right extremism in modern Europe as well as with its function in proper political parties but equally includes two additional broader approaches the militant branches and subcultures that exist including some paramilitary phenomena in Eastern Europe and the broad realm of their political ideas and cultural trends and the influence they exert on European political culture The Fear of Islam Todd H. Green,2015 American and European societies particularly in the long wake of the events of 9 11 and the bombings in Madrid and London have struggled with the recurrent problem of Islamophobia which continues to surface in waves of controversial legislative proposals public anger over the construction of religious edifices and outbreaks of violence The ongoing conflict between Israel and Palestine contributes fuel to the aggressive debate in Western societies and creates the need for measured discussion about religion fear prejudice otherness and residual colonialist attitudes This book offers an introduction to the historical roots and contemporary forms of religious anxiety regarding Islam within the Western world
