Qiao Wang, 2017-01-06 Wang has gathered contributions from an impressive cohort of the world's most respected experts on longhorned beetles. Chapters review both basics of cerambycid taxonomy, morphology and behavior, feeding, reproduction and chemical ecology as well as more applied concerns such as laboratory rearing, pest control and bio security. Overall, this volume is a valuable contribution to the literature as a one-stop shop for readers seeking a comprehensive overview of longhorned beetles. It represents a tremendous effort on the part of Wang and the authors and has resulted in a much-needed update to the literature. This volume is the only work of its kind available at this time and is a valuable addition to the library of any scientist studying wood-boring beetles. Ann M. Ray, Biology, Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio, in The Quarterly Review of Biology, Volume 94, 2019. There are more than 36,000 described species in the family Cerambycidae in the world. With the significant increase of international trade in the recent decades, many cerambycid species have become major plant pests outside their natural distribution range, causing serious environmental problems at great cost. Cerambycid pests of field, vine and tree crops and of forest and urban trees cost billions of dollars in production losses, damage to landscapes and management expenditures worldwide. Cerambycidae of the World: Biology and Pest Management is the first comprehensive text dealing with all aspects of cerambycid beetles in a global context. It presents our current knowledge on the biology, classification, ecology, plant disease transmission and biological, cultural and chemical control tactics, including biosecurity measures from across the world. Written by a team of global experts, this book provides an entrance to the scientific literature on Cerambycidae for scientists in research institutions, primary industries and universities and will serve as an essential reference for agricultural and quarantine professionals in governmental departments throughout the world. Independent Schools Yearbook 2012-2013 none, 2013-06-20 The highly respected book of reference sought after by Independent Schools in membership of the Independent Schools Council's Associations: HMC, GSA, The Society of Heads, IAPS, ISA and COBIS. Rendering Nature Marguerite S. Shaffer, Phoebe S. K. Young, 2015-08-28 We exist at a moment during which the entangled challenges facing the human and natural worlds confront us at every turn, whether at the most basic level of survival, health, sustenance, shelter or in relation to our comfort-driven desires. As demand for resources both necessary and unnecessary increases, understanding how nature and culture are interconnected matters more than ever. Bridging the fields of environmental history and American studies, Rendering Nature examines the surprising interconnections between nature and culture in distinct places, times and contexts over the course of American history. Divided into four themes: animals, bodies, places and politics, the essays span a diverse array of locations and periods from antebellum slave society to atomic testing sites, from gorillas in Central Africa to river runners in the Grand Canyon, from white sun-tanning enthusiasts to Japanese American incarceratedees, from taxidermists at the 1893 World's Fair to tents on Wall Street in 2011. Together they offer new perspectives and conceptual tools that can help us better understand the historical realities and current paradoxes of our environmental predicament. Contributors: Thomas G. Andrews, Connie Y. Chiang, Catherine Cocks, Annie Gilbert Coleman, Finis
