47 include Who's who in India 1948 Who's who in India and Pakistan Rethinking Displacement: Asia Pacific Perspectives Kuntala Lahiri-Dutt, 2016-04-08 This book responds to the need to explore the multitude of interconnected factors causing displacements that compel people to move within their homelands or traverse various borders in the contemporary world that is characterised by extensive and rapid movements of people. It addresses this need by bringing together historical and contemporary accounts and critical examinations of the displaced by articulating the commonalities in their lived experiences. It accomplishes the task of charting a new path in displacement studies by offering a number of studies from interdisciplinary and diverse methodological approaches comprising ethnographic and qualitative research and literary interpretations to emphasise that although the forms and conditions of mobility are highly divergent individual experiences of displacement and placelessness offer a critical challenge to the artificial categorisations of people's movements. Each chapter adds insights into the different configurations of displacement and placement and offers fresh interpretations of migration and dislocation in today's rapidly changing world. The contributors critically examine a variety of displacement processes and experiences in the context of war tourism neoliberal policies of development and the impact of various agro-forestry policies. They focus on a range of countries enabling a thorough comparative analysis in terms of scope and range of examples and methods of analysis. This book makes an original contribution to the growing body of literature on displacement and will appeal to a wide readership including advanced undergraduates and graduate students and professors in disciplines such as human geography development studies sociology and anthropology regional studies and comparative impact assessment.

This all changed with the war and as India Burma Ceylon and Malaya wrested independence from the British empire. Set against the tumult of the postwar period

Boats in a Storm centers on the legal struggles of migrants to retain their traditional rhythms and patterns of life illustrating how they experienced citizenship and decolonization Even as nascent citizenship regimes and divergent political trajectories of decolonization papered over migrations between South and Southeast Asia migrants continued to recount cross border histories in encounters with the law These accounts often obscured by national and international political developments unsettle the notion that static national identities and loyalties had emerged fully formed and unblemished by migrant pasts in the aftermath of empires Drawing on archival materials from India Sri Lanka Myanmar London and Singapore Kalyani Ramnath narrates how former migrants battled legal requirements to revive prewar circulations of credit capital and labor in a postwar context of rising ethno nationalisms that accused migrants of stealing jobs and hoarding land Ultimately Ramnath shows how decolonization was marked not only by shipwrecked empires and nation states assembled and ordered from the debris of imperial collapse but also by these forgotten stories of wartime displacements their unintended consequences and long afterlives
