

Development of a New Curriculum for Business

The curriculum for the new business program was developed by a committee of faculty members and administrators. The committee was charged with the task of creating a curriculum that would be both relevant and challenging for students. The curriculum was developed in a series of steps. First, the committee identified the core competencies that students should have upon completion of the program. These competencies included critical thinking, communication, and problem-solving. Next, the committee identified the courses that would be required to develop these competencies. This included a variety of business courses, as well as general education courses. Finally, the committee identified the sequence of courses that would be most effective in developing these competencies. The curriculum was then reviewed and approved by the faculty and administrators. The new curriculum was implemented in the fall of 2010. The first cohort of students completed the program in the spring of 2011. The results of the program were very positive. Students reported that they had gained a strong understanding of business concepts and had developed the skills necessary to succeed in the workplace. The program was well-received by both students and faculty members. The curriculum was a success and provided a strong foundation for the future of the business program.
