Communication and Sport Michael L. Butterworth, 2021-07-19 Sport is a universal feature of global popular culture It shapes our identities affects our relationships and defines our communities It also influences our consumption habits represents our cultures and dramatizes our politics In other words sport is among the most prominent vehicles for communication available in daily life Nevertheless only recently has it begun to receive robust attention in the discipline of communication studies The handbook of Communication and Sport attends to the recent and rapid growth of scholarship in communication and media studies that features sport as a central site of inquiry The book attempts to capture a full range of methods theories and topics that have come to define the subfield of communication and sport or sports communication It does so by emphasizing four primary features First it foregrounds communication as central to the study of sport This emphasis helps to distinguish the book from collections in related disciplines such as sociology and also points readers beyond media as the primary or only context for understanding the relationship between communication and sport Thus in addition to studies of media effects mediatization media framing and more readers will also engage with studies in interpersonal intercultural organizational and rhetorical communication Second the handbook presents an array of methods theories and topics in the effort to chart a comprehensive landscape of communication and sport scholarship Thus readers will benefit from empirical interpretive and critical work and they will also see studies drawing on varied texts and sites of inquiry Third the handbook of Communication and Sport includes a broad range of scholars from around the world It is therefore neither European nor North American in its primary focus In addition the book includes contributors from commonly under represented regions in Asia Africa and South America Fourth the handbook aims to account for both historical trajectories and contemporary areas of interest In this way it covers the central topics debates and perspectives from the past and also suggests continued and emerging pathways for the future Collectively the handbook of Communication and Sport aspires to provide scholars and students in communication and media studies with the most comprehensive assessment of the field available

Africa's Elite Football Chuka Onwumechili, 2019-11-11 This book explores various aspects of intranational elite football in Africa drawing on the expertise of notable scholars from across the world Africa's Elite Football focuses on an area largely ignored by current scholarship on African football where interest has focused on international migration In exploring the intranational the book is written in two parts The first is a general focus on the continent and the second is an examination of country cases The general focus of the book is on the nature of elite tier leagues the relationship between politics and football the media youth academies intranational migration and fans Notably chapters on topics such as intranational migration present groundbreaking scholarship in this area Currently football discourses on migration focus on international migration of footballers yet the majority of migration in African football is intranational Thus by addressing the intranational this book brings attention to an area that is underrepresented in the current academic discourse The second part of the book which focuses on country cases covers Botswana Egypt Kenya Nigeria Senegal Zambia and Zimbabwe The topics explored in those cases include religiosity health women's football media and management The coverage of health related issues is particularly important given that several books on African football rarely broach such a topic With its unique approach to African football this book will be of interest to scholars and students of sports history African studies politics in sports and African sports

Media and Mass Atrocity Allan Thompson, 2019-04-05 When human beings are at their worst as they most certainly were in Rwanda during the 1994 genocide the world needs the institutions of journalism and the media to be at their best Sadly in Rwanda the media fell short Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the case of Rwanda but also examines how the nexus between media and mass atrocity has been shaped by the dramatic rise of social media It has been twenty five years since Rwanda slid into the abyss The killings happened in broad daylight but many of us turned away A quarter century later there is still much to learn about the relationship between the media and genocide an issue laid bare by the Rwanda tragedy Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the debate over the role of traditional news media in Rwanda where confronted by the horrors taking place international news media for the most part turned away and at times muddled the story when they did pay attention Hate media outlets in Rwanda played a role in laying the groundwork for genocide and then actively encouraged the extermination campaign The news media not only failed to fully grasp and communicate the genocide but mostly overlooked the war crimes committed during the genocide and in its aftermath by the Rwandan Patriotic Front The global media landscape has been transformed since Rwanda We are now saturated with social media generated as often as not by non journalists Mobile phones are everywhere And in many quarters the traditional news media business model continues to recede Against that backdrop it is more important than ever to examine the nexus between media and mass atrocity The book includes an extensive section on the echoes of Rwanda which looks at the cases of Darfur the Central African Republic Myanmar and South Sudan while the impact of social media as a new actor is examined through chapters on social media use by the Islamic State and in Syria and in other contexts across the developing world It also looks at the aftermath of the genocide the shifting narrative of the genocide itself the evolving debate over the role and impact of hate media in Rwanda the challenge of digitizing archival records of the genocide and the fostering of free and independent media in atrocity s wake The volume also probes how journalists themselves confront mass atrocity and examines the preventive function of media through the use of advanced digital technology as well as radio programming in the Lake Chad Basin and the Democratic Republic of Congo Media and Mass Atrocity questions what the lessons of Rwanda mean now in an age of communications so dramatically influenced by social media and the relative decline of traditional news media Sport Communication Chuka Onwumechili,2017-08-16 Sport is a global business Now more than ever sport communication professionals need to understand sport s global reach in order to develop their full potential This is the first textbook to introduce the fundamental principles and practice of sport communication from an international perspective Combining business strategies with insights into social issues such as gender disability and national identity this is an accessible practical and engaging guide to the essentials of sport communication Aimed to enhance learning at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels each chapter contains special features tailored to meet the needs of students and instructors These include learning objectives chapter summaries activities reflections discussion questions recommended resource lists and original cross cultural case studies that demonstrate sport communication theories put into practice Its twenty chapters explore communication in sport across all levels from interpersonal communication and team building to strategic communications and in all forms of media from print and broadcast to social media Sport Communication An International Approach is an essential text for any course on sport communication sport business or sport management Family and Sport Steven M. Ortiz,2023-12-14 Highlighting the microlevel of the family to grapple with contemporary social issues at the macrolevel of society this volume charts new territory to advance a valuable understanding of family and sport issues Waste-to-Energy Pooja Sharma,Yen Wah

Tong, Sanjeeb Mohapatra, Diane Purchase, Himanshu Kumar Khuntia, Surendra Pratap Singh, 2024-11-13 Waste to Energy Sustainable Approaches for Emerging Economies presents the latest developments and applications for the conversion of waste into biofuels and other energy products. Divided into two parts, Section I reviews the major sources of solid waste and their management strategies in developing countries and includes the collection, composition, segregation, and dispersal of various waste streams as well as the generation of biogas and other value added products. Section II examines the transformation of waste into biofuels and the management strategies required to efficiently implement waste to energy processes. Methods for the production of hydrogen, biomethane, biofuels, and bioenergy as well as resource recovery are discussed in depth, and mathematical models are provided for anaerobic digestion techniques. The benefits and challenges of waste to energy as a waste management strategy are explored through dedicated chapters on the techno-economics, environmental and social regulation, and the operation of WtE plants. The final chapter of the book presents a lifecycle assessment and environmental impact analysis of the technologies and strategies discussed. Critically reviews technologies and procedures for integrating waste management with energy production. Evaluates and compares various waste to energy technologies for their utility in producing biofuels. Explores the use of waste to energy techniques for mass biotechnological processing of waste.

Private Law and Building Safety Matthew Bell, Susan Bright, Ben McFarlane, Andrew Robertson, 2025-07-24 This collection of essays explores the real world problem of building safety through the lens of private law. High profile building failures including the fire at Grenfell Tower, London, England, and the collapse of Champlain Towers South, Florida, USA, have exposed widespread building safety failures globally. In this book, international experts deploy a variety of different private law perspectives ranging through torts, contract, and real property law to examine building safety failures across the UK, USA, Australia, Singapore, New Zealand, Italy, and Canada. The book offers policymakers, practitioners, and scholars ground-breaking consideration of this vital yet under-considered aspect of the building safety crisis, along with new and valuable insights into the nature, limits, and utility of private law. The book shows that private law can be part of the solution to, as well as being part of the cause of, the building safety crisis. Consideration is given to existing legislative and judicial responses to the crisis, offering guidance as to how statutory regimes addressing the building safety problem, such as the Building Safety Act 2022, can best be understood and developed. A central lesson is the need to take an integrated, coherent approach within and beyond private law. The book also illustrates that an understanding of the causes of, and responses to, the building safety crisis is vital to any theory of private law: private law is unable to fulfil its distinctive and crucial role of ordering our relations one to another if we adopt an unduly limited view of the reasons and resources available to it. The book results from a joint research project by the Faculty of Law at the University of Oxford and Melbourne Law School at the University of Melbourne.

Donald J. Trump's Presidency Chuka Onwumehili, 2023-12-04 This book captures Donald J. Trump's presidency by addressing the remarkable tropes that defined that period. It offers research-based investigations of the communicative aspects of Trump's presidency with a focus on race immigration xenophobia and social conflicts as they interact with communication. The book utilizes research data to capture critical moments of the presidency. Chapters examine metadiscourse during President Trump's press events where he accused the media of Nasty Question and Fake News. Offer computational framing analysis to expose the communication of racism and xenophobia in US Mexico cross border wall discourses and provide critical textual analysis of select episodes of CW's critically acclaimed TV show Jane the Virgin exposing how citizenship or lack thereof shapes one's relationship to the state and surrounding communities. They also offer textual analysis to demonstrate how a predominantly White newsroom differs from a newsroom that is racially diverse against the backdrop of the coverage of two politically charged issues of Black Lives Matter and Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) and explore interdisciplinary concepts related to understanding immigrants and sojourners. believability evaluation of disinformation. Donald J. Trump's Presidency will be a key resource for scholars and researchers of communication studies political communication media and cultural studies race and ethnic studies and political science while also appealing to anyone interested in the communicative aspects of Trump's presidency and American politics. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Howard Journal of Communications.

The Creation of Wing Chun Benjamin N. Judkins, Jon Nielson, 2015-07-16. This book explores the social history of southern Chinese martial arts and their contemporary importance to local identity and narratives of resistance. Hong Kong's Bruce Lee ushered the Chinese martial arts onto an international stage in the 1970s. Lee's teacher Ip Man, master of Wing Chun Kung Fu, has recently emerged as a highly visible symbol of southern Chinese identity and pride. Benjamin N. Judkins and Jon Nielson examine the emergence of Wing Chun to reveal how this body of social practices developed and why individuals continue to turn to the martial arts as they navigate the challenges of a rapidly evolving environment. After surveying the development of hand combat traditions in Guangdong Province from roughly the start of the nineteenth century until 1949, the authors turn to Wing Chun, noting its development, the changing social attitudes towards this practice over time, and its ultimate emergence as a global art form.
