theoretical and historical dimensions and to bring a livelier regard for intertextuality to the studies of German film and literature It is concerned with the ways in which filmmakers in Germany from Pabst and von Sternberg to Fassbinder Herzog and Sanders Brahms have engaged and been engaged by literary history      Threatened Masculinity from British

Fiction to Cold War German Cinema Joseph Willis, 2019-05-30 The impact of the Cold War on German male identities can be seen in the nation's cinematic search for a masculine paradigm that rejected the fate centered value system of its National Socialist past while also recognizing that German males once again had become victims of fate and fatalism but now within the value system of the Soviet and American hegemonies that determined the fate of Cold War Germany and Central Europe This monograph is the first to demonstrate that this Cold War cinematic search sought out a meaningful masculine paradigm through film adaptations of late Victorian and Edwardian male writers who likewise sought a means of self determination within a hegemonic structure that often left few opportunities for personal agency In contrast to the scholarly practice of exploring categories of modern masculinity such as Victorian imperialist manliness or German Cold War male identity as distinct from each other this monograph offers an important comparative corrective that brings forward an extremely influential century long trajectory of threatened masculinity For German Cold War masculinity lessons were to be learned from history namely from late Victorian and Edwardian models of manliness Cold War Germans like the Victorians before them had to confront the unknowns of a new world without fear or hesitation In a Cold War mentality where nuclear technology and geographic distance had trumped face to face confrontation between East and West Cold War German masculinity sought alternatives to the insanity of mutual nuclear destruction by choosing not just to confront threats but to resolve threats directly through personal agency and self determination      German National Cinema Sabine

Monta, 2021-06-01 Global 1968 is a unique study of the similarities and differences in the 1968 cultural revolutions in Europe and Latin America The late 1960s was a time of revolutionary ferment throughout the world Yet so much was in flux during these years that it is often difficult to make sense of the period In this volume distinguished historians filmmakers musicologists literary scholars and novelists address this challenge by exploring a specific issue the extent to which the period that we associate with the year 1968 constituted a cultural revolution They approach this topic by comparing the different manifestations of this transformational era in Europe and Latin America The contributors show in vivid detail how new social mores innovative forms of artistic expression and cultural religious and political resistance were debated and tested on both sides of the Atlantic In some cases the desire to confront traditional beliefs and conventions had been percolating under the surface for years Yet they also find that the impulse to overturn the status quo was fueled by the interplay of a host of factors that converged at the end of the 1960s and accelerated the transition from one generation to the next These factors included new thinking about education and work dramatic changes in the self presentation of the Roman Catholic Church government repression in both the Soviet Bloc and Latin America and universal disillusionment with the United States The contributors demonstrate that the short and long term effects of the cultural revolution of 1968 varied from country to country but the period s defining legacy was a lasting shift in values beliefs lifestyles and artistic sensibilities Contributors A James McAdams Volker Schlöndorff Massimo De Giuseppe Eric Drott Eric Zolov William Collins Donahue Valeria Manzano Timothy W Ryback Vania Markarian Belinda Davis J Patrice McSherry Michael Seidman Willem Melching Jaime M Pensado Patrick Barr Melej Carmen Helena Tellez Alonso Cueto and Ignacio Walker      The Cambridge Companion to the Literature of Berlin Andrew Webber, 2017-03-09 This book provides an informative overview of literary developments in Berlin since 1750 with more detailed readings of exemplary key texts      Paul Tillich and the Possibility of Revelation Through Film Jonathan Brant, 2012-01-26 This study explores the possibility that even films lacking religious subject matter might have a religious impact upon their viewers It begins with a reading of Paul Tillich s theology of revelation through culture and continues with a qualitative research project assessing the experiences of filmgoers in Latin America      European Cinema in the Twenty-First Century Ingrid Lewis, Laura Canning, 2020-05-23 This book rethinks the study of European Cinema in a way that centres on students and their needs in a comprehensive volume introducing undergraduates to the main discourses directions and genres of twenty first century European film Importantly this collection is the first of its kind to apply a transversal approach to European Cinema bringing together the East and the West while providing a broad picture of key trends aesthetics genres national identities and transnational concerns Lewis and Canning s collection effectively addresses some of the most pressing questions in contemporary European film such as ecology migration industry identity disability memory auteurship genre small cinemas and the national and international frameworks which underpin them Combining accessible original research
