Handbook of Food Security and Society Martin Caraher, John Coveney, Mickey Chopra, 2023-08-14

Events such as the COVID 19 pandemic and the war in Ukraine have drawn the subject of food security firmly into the public eye. This timely Handbook examines and responds to this pertinent topic offering calculated solutions to food insecurity. Exploring an international range of perspectives surrounding food security, it illustrates clear links between food and broader social welfare, policy and economic determinants.

Africa's Development Dynamics 2019: Achieving Productive Transformation African Union Commission, OECD, 2019-11-05

Africa's Development Dynamics What are the major economic and social trends in Africa? What is Africa's role in globalisation? This annual report presents an Africa open to the world and towards the future, uses the lessons learned in the five African regions: Central, East, North, Southern and West Africa to develop recommendations and share good practices. The report identifies innovative policies and offers practical policy recommendations adapted to the specificities of African economies. Drawing on the most recent available statistics, this analysis of development dynamics aims to help African leaders reach the targets of the African Union's Agenda 2063 at all levels: continental, regional, national and local. Every year, this report will focus on one strategic theme. This 2019 edition explores policies for productive transformation. It proposes three main policy focus areas: transforming firms, providing business services to clusters of firms, developing regional production networks and improving exporting firms' ability to thrive in fast-changing markets. This volume feeds into a policy debate between African Union's nations, citizens, entrepreneurs and researchers. It aims to be part of a new co-operation between countries and regions focused on mutual learning and the preservation of common goods. This report is the result of a partnership between the African Union Commission and the OECD Development Centre.

Africa's Population: In Search of a Demographic Dividend Hans Groth, John F. May, 2017-05-23

This book examines the promises as well as the challenges the demographic dividend brings to sub-Saharan Africa as fertility rates in the region fall and the labor force grows. It offers a detailed analysis of what conditions must be met in order for the region to take full economic advantage of ongoing population dynamics. As the book makes clear, the region will need to accelerate reforms to cope with its demographic transition, in particular the decline of fertility. The continent will need to foster human capital formation through renewed efforts in the areas of education, health and employment. This will entail a true vision and determination on the part of African leaders and their development partners. The book will help readers to gain solid knowledge of the demographic trends and provide insights into socioeconomic policies that eventually might lead sub-Saharan Africa into a successful future.

The World Scientific Handbook of Futures Markets Anastasios G. E. T. Al MALLIARIS,2015-08-06 The World Scientific Handbook of Futures Markets serves as a definitive source for comprehensive and accessible information in futures markets The emphasis is on the unique characteristics of futures markets that make them worthy of a special volume In our judgment futures markets are currently undergoing remarkable changes as trading is shifting from open outcry to electronic and as the traditional functions of hedging and speculation are extended to include futures as an alternative investment vehicle in traditional portfolios The unique feature of this volume is the selection of five classic papers that lay the foundations of the futures markets and the invitation to the leading academics who do work in the area to write critical surveys in a dozen important topics cProvided by publisher

Structure, conduct and performance of maize markets in Malawi Ochieng, Dennis O.,Botha, Rosemary,Baulch, Bob,2019-08-21 Seasonal analysis of the structure conduct and performance SCP of markets for staple crops has received relatively little attention in food policy analysis yet it has important implications for food and nutrition security This study employs a mixed methods approach to analyze the SCP of maize markets in Malawi in the 2018 19 main harvest and lean seasons We interviewed 749 traders from 74 markets across 8 districts held 28 focus group discussions FGD with a total of 480 farmers and analyzed daily and weekly price data from 13 regional markets The structure of maize markets was explored by examining marketing channels barriers to entry and the competitiveness of different tiers of the marketing chain Inequality in sales revenues switches in trader types between seasons quality and weights standardization and the behavior of traders were used to examine market conduct Performance was assessed by examining traders costs and margins and the spatial and temporal integration of maize markets We find that Malawi s maize market is pyramidal in structure and highly competitive at lower tiers of trade but oligopolistic at higher tiers The market channels vary across seasons with switches between trader types and instances of rural urban trade reversals There is considerable inequality of sales revenues among traders of similar capacities and a widespread lack of structured trading despite existing institutions A high ratio of marketing costs to revenue suggests marketing inefficiencies Malawi maize prices were highly seasonal and more volatile than neighboring countries In contrast to previous studies our findings show weak spatial integration of markets and slow price adjustments to long run equilibrium values even among short distance market pairs The study highlights five pathways to improving Malawi s maize marketing system 1 increased policy predictability to promote private sector investment 2 institutionalization of quality grades and standardization of weights and measures 3 increased commercialization of smallholder maize production 4 investment in enabling infrastructure and 5 the promotion of structured trading
