Experimental Methods in Wastewater Treatment Mark C. M. van Loosdrecht, Per Halkjaer Nielsen, C. M. Lopez-Vazquez, Damir Brdjanovic, 2016-05-15 Over the past twenty years the knowledge and understanding of wastewater treatment has advanced extensively and moved away from empirically based approaches to a fundamentally based first principles approach embracing chemistry microbiology and physical and bioprocess engineering often involving experimental laboratory work and techniques Many of these experimental methods and techniques have matured to the degree that they have been accepted as reliable tools in wastewater treatment research and practice For sector professionals especially a new generation of young scientists and engineers entering the wastewater treatment profession the quantity complexity and diversity of these new developments can be overwhelming particularly in developing countries where access to advanced level laboratory courses in wastewater treatment is not readily available In addition information on innovative experimental methods is scattered across scientific literature and only partially available in the form of textbooks or guidelines This book seeks to address these deficiencies It assembles and integrates the innovative experimental methods developed by research groups and practitioners around the world Experimental Methods in Wastewater Treatment forms part of the internet based curriculum in wastewater treatment at UNESCO IHE and as such may also be used together with video records of experimental methods performed and narrated by the authors including guidelines on what to do and what not to do The book is written for undergraduate and postgraduate students researchers laboratory staff plant operators consultants and other sector professionals

Embodied and grounded cognition

Anna Borghi, Diane Pecher, 2012-01-01 In the last 10 15 years the embodied and grounded cognition approach has become widespread in all fields related to cognitive science such as cognitive and social psychology neuroscience philosophy anthropology computational modelling and robotics According to this approach our cognitive activity is grounded in sensory motor processes and situated in specific contexts and situations Therefore in this view concepts consist of the reactivation of the same neural pattern that is present when we perceive and or interact with the objects they refer to In the same way understanding language would imply forming a mental simulation of what is linguistically described This simulation would entail the recruitment of the same neurons that are activated when actually acting or perceiving the situation action emotion object or entity described by language In the last years a lot of evidence has been collected in favour of EC and GC view The aim of this Research Topic is twofold First it intends to give an idea of the field of embodied and grounded cognition in its broadness We therefore intend to invite scientists of different disciplines anthropology philosophy linguistics cognitive and social psychology neuroscience computer science to submit their proposals The second aim of this Research Topic is to focus on some challenges that in our opinion embodied and grounded theories of cognition need to face First we believe that one important challenge for EC and GC views is to account for the way the so called abstract concepts and abstract words are represented Evidence on the representation of concrete concepts and words is compelling whereas evidence on abstract concepts representation is still too scarce and limited to restricted domains We therefore welcome proposals dealing with this complex issue Second we think that embodied and grounded theories of cognition would need to formulate more precise hypotheses and that in general within the field a larger theoretical effort should be made It is striking that even if a lot of work in the field of computational modelling and robotics starts from an embodied approach experimental and modelling work on embodied cognition remain somehow separate We therefore invite researchers to submit papers proposing models which might help to explain phenomena as well as to constrain and specify in more detail the predictions and the claims advanced within the framework of EC and GC theories
