concerns Muslim Medical Ethics draws on the work of historians health care professionals theologians and social scientists to produce an interdisciplinary view of medical ethics in Muslim societies and of the impact of caring for Muslim patients in non Muslim societies Edited by Jonathan E Brockopp and Thomas Eich the volume challenges traditional presumptions of theory and practice to demonstrate the ways in which Muslims balance respect for their heritage with the health issues of a modern world Like members of many other faiths Muslims are deeply engaged by the technological challenges posed by modern biomedicine and they respond to those challenges with enormous creativity whether as patients doctors or religious scholars Muslim Medical Ethics demonstrates that religiously based cultural norms often inform medical practice and vice versa in an ongoing discourse The contributors map the breadth and boundaries of this discourse through discussions of contested issues on the cutting edge of ethical debates from fertilized embryos in Saudi Arabia to patient autonomy in Toronto from organ trafficking in Egypt to sterilization in Tanzania As the authors illustrate the effects of Muslim medical ethics have ramifications beyond the Muslim world With growing populations of Muslims in North America and Europe Western physicians and health care workers should be educated on the special needs of this category of patients In every essay the richness of the Islamic tradition is visible In the premodern period Muslim physicians were considered among the best in the world building and improving on Greek and Indian traditions Muslim physicians today continue that tradition while incorporating scientific advances Scholars of Islamic law work closely with physicians to develop ethical guidelines for national and international bodies and individual Muslims take full advantage of advances in medicine and religious law combining them with the wisdom of Sufism and traditions of family and community This exploration of Muslim medical ethics is therefore a foray into the richness and sophistication of the Islamic tradition itself Designed as an engaging point of entrance for students in religious studies anthropology ethics and medical humanities this pathbreaking volume also has utility for health care professionals and policy makers

Basic Health Care in Family Medicine and Public Health, 2025-02-19 Although shaped primarily according to the economic and social structures of countries basic health services aim to provide equal and accessible health services to everyone While the public health discipline is involved in the planning and supervising of basic health services the family medicine discipline is directly responsible for ensuring the implementation of these services These disciplines must cooperate and coordinate to provide organized and effective basic health services More importantly health and social policies should be structured in accordance with the prioritized needs of countries. The basic health needs of countries are directly related to the economic and social structures of those countries. For this reason, it is not possible to talk about a globally structured basic health service that has definite boundaries and can be applied to every country. The main objective is to protect and improve health. Governments must create appropriate health policies. As in every field, basic health services are shaped according to the era, and their scope changes. However, the basic principle in every age is to provide equal and free health care services to those in need. This book aims to inform the reader about the scope and applications of basic health services.

Islam: Global Christian Perspectives Wageeh Mikhail, 2024-07-30. There are hundreds of books on Islam; after all, it is the second largest religion on the planet. Few, however, are the books written by Christian scholars of Islam who live and work in Muslim majority countries. Here lies the value of this current volume. It addresses Islam, Islamic history, Islamic theology, and Christian-Muslim relations from global Christian perspectives, where contributors describe experiences and narratives of conversations, obstacles, cohabitation, understanding, and cooperative efforts between Christians and Muslims in a variety of Middle Eastern, African, and Asian nations, including Egypt, Ghana, India, Jordan, Lebanon, and Nigeria. This book treats Islam academically and from a Christian standpoint. Authors discuss historical interactions between Christians and Muslims and where relevant, current avenues for work for the common good.
