Batto, 2013-05-01 Bernard F Batto spent the bulk of his career examining the ancient Near Eastern context of the Hebrew Bible with particular interest in the influence of the surrounding cultures on the biblical creation stories This collection gathers six of his most important previously published essays and adds two new contributions Among the essays Batto identifies various creation motifs prevalent in the ancient Near East and investigates the reflexes of these motifs in Genesis 1 11 and other biblical accounts of the primeval period He demonstrates how the biblical writers adapted and responded to the creation ideas of Mesopotamia Egypt Ugarit and elsewhere The articles in the volume were written as independent essays Nevertheless they are united by theme Throughout Batto makes clear his understanding of the Hebrew Bible as a patently unique text yet one that cannot possibly be understood independent of greater cultural sphere in which it developed In the Beginning will serve as an indispensable resource for those interested in both the biblical ideas of creation and the mythology of the ancient Near East that influenced them Whores and Other Feminists Jill Nagle, 2013-09-13 Whores and Other Feminists fleshes out feminist politics from the perspective of sex workers strippers prostitutes porn writers producers and performers dominatrices and their allies Comprising a range of voices from both within and outside the academy this collection draws from traditional feminisms postmodern feminism queer theory and sex radicalism It stretches the boundaries of contemporary feminism holding accountable both traditional feminism for stigmatizing sex workers and also the sex industry for its sexist practices Ancient Mesopotamia Jane R. and Ideology under the Seleukids Eva Anagnostou-Laoutides,Stefan Pfeiffer,2022-01-19 The volume offers a timely re appraisal of Seleukid cultural dynamics While the engagement of Seleukid kings with local populations and the issue of Hellenization are still debated a movement away from the Greco centric approach to the study of the sources has gained pace Increasingly textual sources are read alongside archaeological and numismatic evidence and relevant near eastern records are consulted Our study of Seleukid kingship adheres to two game changing principles 1 We are not interested in judging the Seleukids as strong or weak whether in their interactions with other Hellenistic kingdoms or with the populations they ruled 2 While appreciating the value of the social imaginaries approach Stavrianopoulou 2013 we argue that the use of ethnic identity in antiquity remains problematic Through a pluralistic approach in line with the complex cultural considerations that informed Seleukid royal agendas we examine the concept of kingship and its gender aspects tensions between centre and periphery the level of acculturation intended and achieved under the Seleukids the Seleukid Ptolemaic interrelations As rulers of a multi cultural empire the Seleukids were deeply aware of cultural politics Myth and Method Laurie L.

Patton,Wendy Doniger,1996 In confronting these tension they provide an outline of the most troubling questions in the field and offer a variety of responses to them World of Myths Marina Warner,2003-11-01 A compilation of myths from cultures around the world which have been translated from their original languages Adapa and the South Wind

Shlomo Izre'el,2001 The scholarly world first became aware of the myth of Adapa and the South Wind when it was discovered on a tablet from the El Amarna archive in 1887 We now have at our disposal six fragments of the myth The largest and most important fragment from Amarna is dated to the 14th century B C E This fragment of the Adapa myth has red tinted points applied on the tablet at specific intervals Izre el draws attention to a few of these points that were missed in previous publications by Knudtzon and Schroeder Five other fragments were part of the Assurbanipal library and are representative of this myth as it was known in Assyria about seven centuries later The discovery of the myth of Adapa and the South Wind immediately attracted wide attention Its ideology and its correspondence to the intellectual heritage of Western religions precipitated flourishing studies of this myth both philological and substantive Many translations have appeared during the past century shedding light on various aspects of the myth and its characters Izre el unveils the myth of Adapa and the South Wind as mythos as story To do this he analyzes the underlying concepts through extensive treatment of form He offers an edition of the extant fragments of the myth including the transliterated Akkadian text a translation and a philological commentary The analysis of poetic form that follows leads to understanding the myth as a piece of literature and to uncovering its meanings This study therefore marks a new phase in the long extensive research into this Mesopotamian myth

Schmandt-Besserat, 1992 Before Writing gives a new perspective on the evolution of communication It points out that when writing began in Mesopotamia it was not as previously thought a sudden and spontaneous invention Instead it was the outgrowth of many thousands of years worth of experience at manipulating symbols In Volume I From Counting to Cuneiform Denise Schmandt Besserat describes how in about 8000 B C coinciding with the rise of agriculture a system of counters or tokens appeared in the Near East These tokens small geometrically shaped objects made of clay represented various units of goods and were used to count and account for them The token system was a breakthrough in data processing and communication that ultimately led to the invention of writing about 3100 B C Through a study of archaeological and epigraphic evidence Schmandt Besserat traces how the Sumerian cuneiform script the first writing system emerged from a counting device In Volume II A Catalog of Near Eastern Tokens Schmandt Besserat presents the primary data on which she bases her theories These data consist of several thousand tokens catalogued by country archaeological site and token types and subtypes The information also includes the chronology stratigraphy museum ownership accession or field number references to previous publications material and size of the artifacts Line drawings and photographs illustrate the various token types

Ancient Anunnaki and the Babylonian Empire Faruq Zamani, The earliest history of Babylon is little known Among the many cities flourishing in southern Iraq the town first appears in texts in the third millennium BC Until the last century of the third millennium few references existed to Babylon however offerings made to the temple of Enlil in Nippur during this period when Babylon was part of an empire ruled by Ur suggest a city already of some size and wealth From relative obscurity in the middle of the 18th century BC Babylon emerged as the political center of southern Mesopotamia It held this position almost continuously for the next 1 400 years Near Baghdad around 85 kilometers south of the Euphrates is the site of Babylon The area is located north of the great alluvial plain of southern Iraq a landscape of silts deposited by the Tigris and Euphrates into a vast rift created by tectonic movement as the Arabian plate slips beneath the neighboring Eurasian plate In addition to defining modern day Iraq's northern and eastern boundaries the Taurus and Zagros mountain ranges were created by the same collision As a result Mesopotamia encompasses several environmental zones but Babylon itself is found in the flat alluvial plain in southern Iraq In addition to containing one of the world's earliest cities³ the table is subject to several significant environmental constraints that have shaped human settlements since long before the foundation of Babylon Rain fed agriculture is beyond the reach of this area due to its high temperatures Despite the little precipitation this part of Iraq receives it is uneven and unreliable the bulk of a season's rain can fall in a single downpour damaging crops as severe droughts⁴ Human habitation is dependent on the two great rivers and the permanent settlement requires irrigation Upon establishment However on the levees of canals such a system could benefit from the rich alluvial soils and support highly productive agriculture In explaining the region's early urbanization and accompanying economic development many contend that the region's ability to produce large agricultural surpluses played a significant role though in what way is hotly contested Herodotus was undoubtedly impressed As a grain bearing country Assyria meaning Mesopotamia is the richest globally he writes in his description of the fifth century BC Figs grapes olives or other fruit trees are not grown there but the grain fields tend to produce crops two hundredfold and three hundredfold in exceptional years At least three inches wide are the wheat and barley blades Millet and sesame grow to an astonishing size as I know but those who have not visited Babylon have refused to believe even what I have already described as its fertility Sesame oil is the only oil they use and date palms most of which bear fruit provide them with food wine and honey
