the book also provides calculations on the environmental benefits potentially achievable through greener purchasing Tools were developed and tested by the RELIEF researchers on the environmental assessment of products public buying power and on evaluations of market conditions in order to provide scenarios for the application of green purchasing at a European level The conclusions are that there is huge potential for both local and central governments to adapt their behaviour patterns and purchase in a more environmentally responsible way For example 18% of the EU s Kyoto Protocol commitment could be achieved if major cities in the European Union purchased green electricity The results are complemented by new ideas on how best to foster innovation in public contractual arrangements to encourage the development of products such as super energy efficient computers and fuel cells and how the legal system may require adaptation and reform The results presented in this book will provide an indispensable resource for municipalities governments researchers and business practitioners looking for answers on how public procurement can have a fundamental and manifestly positive effect on the environment
