Towards Democratic Development States in Southern Africa Godfrey Kanyenze, Herbert Jauch, 2016-12-14 The dawn of the twenty first century heralded an apparent change of fortunes for most sub Saharan African economies with annual growth averaging over 5% for fifteen years However this was not accompanied by structural transformation poverty food insecurity unemployment and inequality persist Structural transformation has not been and indeed cannot be delivered by market forces and neo liberal economic policies it requires a state committed to development and to achieving it in a democratic way To what extent do the countries of Southern Africa exhibit the characteristics of such a developmental state What steps if any do they need to take in order to become one The book answers the questions with respect to South Africa Botswana Namibia Zimbabwe Angola and Malawi Godfrey Kanyenze and his colleagues have assembled a distinguished team of writers to take the temperature of the regional political economy and chart a path for its future development

Yearbook of International Organizations 2013-2014 (Volumes 1a-1b) Union Of International Associations, Union of International Associations, 2013-06-21 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events The Blue Compendium Jane Lubchenco, Peter M. Haugan, 2023-05-24 Home to over 80 percent of all life on Earth the ocean is the world s largest carbon sink and a key source of food and economic security for billions of people The relevance of the ocean for humanity s future is undisputed However the ocean s great potential to drive economic growth and equitable job creation sustain healthy ecosystems and mitigate climate change is not yet fully recognised Lack of awareness of this potential as well as management and governance challenges pose impediments Until these impediments are removed ocean ecosystems will continue to be degraded and opportunities for people lost A transition and a clear path to a thriving and vibrant relationship between humans and the ocean are urgently needed This open access collection of papers and reports identifies a path that is inspired by science energised by engaged people and emboldened by visionary leaders These assessments of knowledge are commissioned by the High Level Panel for a Sustainable Ocean Economy Ocean Panel which was established in September 2018 as a unique initiative led by heads of state and government from around the world to showcase the latest leading edge science knowledge and state of the art thinking on key ocean issues Altogether The Blue Compendium offers innovative ocean solutions in technology policy governance and finance realms that could help accelerate a transition to a more sustainable and prosperous relationship with the ocean The comprehensive assessments have already informed policy making at the highest levels of government and motivated an impressive array of responsive and ambitious action across a growing network of leaders in business finance and civil society

Global Monitoring Report 2015/2016 World Bank; International Monetary Fund, 2015-11-02 The Global Monitoring Report 2015 2016 produced by the World Bank Group in partnership with the International Monetary Fund comes at an inflection point in both the setting of global development goals and the demographic trends affecting those goals This year marks the end of the Millennium Development Goals MDGs and the launching of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs while the World Bank Group has in parallel articulated the twin goals of sustainably ending extreme poverty and sharing prosperity This report presents the latest global poverty numbers based on the 2011 purchasing power parity PPP data and examines the pace of development progress through the lens of the evolving global development goals The special theme of this year's report examines the complex interaction between demographic change and development With the number of children approaching a global ceiling of two billion the world's population is growing slower It is also aging faster with the share of people of working age starting a decline in 2013 But the direction and pace of these trends vary starkly across countries with sizeable demographic disparities between centers of global poverty marked by high fertility and drivers of global growth marked by rapid aging These demographic disparities are expected to deeply affect the pursuit of the post 2015 agenda accentuating existing challenges and creating new opportunities Benefit-sharing in Environmental Governance Louisa Parks, 2019-11-20

Taking a bottom up perspective this book explores local framings of a wide range of issues related to benefit sharing a growing concept in global environmental governance Benefit sharing in Environmental Governance draws on original case studies from South Africa Namibia Greece Argentina and Malaysia to shed light on what benefit sharing looks like from the local viewpoint These local level case studies move away from the idea of benefit sharing as defined by a single international organization or treaty Rather they reflect different situations where benefit sharing has been considered including agriculture access to land and plants wildlife management and extractives industries Common themes in the experiences of local communities form the basis for an exploration of spaces for local voices at the international level in the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD often argued to be the most open arena to non state actors and therefore vital to how local voices may be included at the global level The book analyzes the decisions of the CBD parties to produce an in depth reflection on how this arena builds and delimits spaces for the expression of local community themes and paths for local community participation including community protocols The book then situates the bottom up findings in the wider debate about global civil society and deliberative democracy in environmental governance This interdisciplinary book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental politics environmental law political ecology and global governance as well as practitioners and policymakers involved in multilateral environmental agreements

Medium-Term Budget Frameworks in Sub-Saharan African Countries Mr. Richard I Allen, Taz Chaponda, Ms. Lesley Fisher, Rohini Ray, 2017-09-11 More than 15 years ago many countries in sub Saharan Africa embarked on a program of budgetary reform an important element of which was a medium term budget framework MTBF This working paper focuses on the performance of these frameworks in six countries Kenya Namibia South Africa Tanzania Uganda and Zambia It assesses the effectiveness of MTBFs in achieving improved fiscal discipline resource allocation and certainty of funding as well as wider economic and social criteria such as poverty reduction and more efficient public investment In most countries early successes were not sustained and budgetary outcomes did not improve partly for technical reasons such as poor data and inadequate forecasting methodologies but also because the reforms were largely supply driven The paper argues that the development of MTBFs typically falls into four distinct phases To make the transition from one phase to the next developing countries should focus on building their capability in macrofiscal forecasting and analysis and in improving the credibility of the annual budget process

Landscapes between Then and Now Nicola Brandt, 2020-09-08 In Landscapes Between Then and Now Nicola Brandt examines the increasingly compelling and diverse cross disciplinary work of photographers and artists made during the transition from apartheid to post apartheid and into the contemporary era By examining specific artworks made in South Africa Namibia and Angola Brandt sheds light on established and emerging themes related to aftermath landscapes embodied histories un belonging spirituality and memorialization She shows how landscape and identity are mutually constituted and profiles this process against the background of the legacy of the acutely racially divisive policies of the apartheid regime that are still reflected on the land As a signpost throughout the book Brandt draws on the work of the renowned South African photographer Santu Mofokeng and his critical thinking about landscape Landscapes Between Then and Now explores how practitioners who engage with identity and their physical environment as a social product might reveal something about the complex and fractured nature of postcolonial and contemporary societies Through diverse strategies and aesthetics they comment on inherent structures and epistemologies of power whilst also expressing new and radical forms of self determinism Brandt asks why these cross disciplinary works ranging from social documentary to experimental performance and embodied practices are critical now and what important possibilities for social and political reflection and engagement they suggest
