Race After Technology Ruha Benjamin, 2019-07-09 From everyday apps to complex algorithms Ruha Benjamin cuts through tech industry hype to understand how emerging technologies can reinforce White supremacy and deepen social inequity Benjamin argues that automation far from being a sinister story of racist programmers scheming on the dark web has the potential to hide speed up and deepen discrimination while appearing neutral and even benevolent when compared to the racism of a previous era Presenting the concept of the New Jim Code she shows how a range of discriminatory designs encode inequity by explicitly amplifying racial hierarchies by ignoring but thereby replicating social divisions or by aiming to fix racial bias but ultimately doing quite the opposite Moreover she makes a compelling case for race itself as a kind of technology designed to stratify and sanctify social injustice in the architecture of everyday life This illuminating guide provides conceptual tools for decoding tech promises with sociologically informed skepticism In doing so it challenges us to question not only the technologies we are sold but also the ones we ourselves manufacture Visit the book's free Discussion Guide www.dropbox.com Investigating Legal Studies for Queensland Anthony Dosen, Tanya Ballantyne, Marcia

Brumpton, Kim Gibson, Leon Harris, Stephen Lippingwell, 2013-09-30 As you develop into active adult participants in Australian society it is vital that you understand the ways in which state national and international legal systems can and do affect you and those around you This book will equip you with the knowledge and skills you need to effectively participate as a citizen now and in the future adapted from back cover Mom's House, Dad's House Isolina Ricci, 2013-04-16

how much their net salary package actually costs their employers The book should also help childcare providers to benchmark their service and understand the financial consequences for parents and themselves of certain payments and benefits Parents as employees with children face a dichotomy on the one hand they have a contractual obligation to their employer and frequently have a strong personal investment in their career or profession on the other hand the duty of care and the desire to do the best for their children is paramount Many parents are fully alive to their dual responsibilities and are extremely grateful for any support offered to them by their employer and indeed their colleagues If friction arises it is invariably when childcare arrangements break down or where there is a lack of understanding or communication This book seeks to set out not only the various options available to parents with the concomitant potential costs and obligations but also to discuss alternative and back up arrangements Many sources of information on childcare focus on new parents and their babies While this is a critical time when parents seek advice the childcare arrangements suitable for a couple with a baby may be very different from those for a single parent with school aged children In this publication consideration is given to childcare for babies through to teenagers
