

Preterito vs. Imperfecto (p. 26)

- Remember that you have learned two past tenses: the preterite and the imperfect. Look at the information below for a summary of when to use each tense.

Preterite

- actions that happened once or were completed in the past
- to relate a series of events that happened

Imperfect

- habitual or repeated actions in the past
- descriptions such as background information, physical appearance, emotions, time, date, age, and weather

When you have two verbs in one sentence, use the following rules:

- If two actions were going on simultaneously and did not interrupt each other, put both verbs in the imperfect:
Yo leía mientras mi hermano grababa.
- If one action that is in progress in the past is interrupted by another action, put the action in progress in the imperfect and the interrupting action in the preterite:
Los científicos observaban cuando se marcó gol de la clase.
