The Ethics of Embryonic Stem Cell Research Katrien Devolder, 2015 Embryonic stem cell research holds unique promise for developing therapies for currently incurable diseases and conditions and for important biomedical research However the process through which embryonic stem cells are obtained involves the destruction of early human embryos Katrien Devolder focuses on the tension between the popular view that an embryo should never be deliberately harmed or destroyed and the view that embryonic stem cell research because of its enormous promise must go forward She provides an in depth ethical analysis of the major philosophical and political attempts to resolve this tension One such attempt involves the development of a middle ground position which accepts only types or aspects of embryonic stem cell research deemed compatible with the view that the embryo has a significant moral status An example is the position that it can be permissible to derive stem cells from embryos left over from in vitro fertilisation but not from embryos created for research Others have advocated a technical solution Several techniques have been proposed for deriving embryonic stem cells or their functional equivalents without harming embryos An example is the induced pluripotent stem cell technique Through highlighting inconsistencies in the arguments for these positions Devolder argues that the central tension in the embryonic stem cell debate remains unresolved This conclusion has important implications for the stem cell debate as well as for policies inspired by this debate The Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords, 2012 The American Journal of Psychiatry, 2009 Popular Science, 2007-08 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Approaches to Hungarian Johan Brandtler, Valéria Molnár, Christer Platzack, 2013-09-25 This volume brings together ten papers presented at the 10th International Conference on the Structure of Hungarian Lund 2011 The papers cover a broad field of issues in Hungarian relating to phonetics phonology semantics syntax and pragmatics such as vowel harmony particle verb constructions impersonal use of personal pronouns the diachronic development of comparative subclauses pseudoclefts and wh interrogatives While the majority of the papers focus on Hungarian four articles discuss questions relating to other languages One article compares clausal coordinate ellipsis in Hungarian Estonian Dutch and German another addresses the question how the information structural notions discourse new Focus and Given relate to each other Two articles focus on Finnish discussing DP extraction and participial constructions respectively The broad range of phenomena covered in this volume makes it relevant not just to scholars working on Hungarian but to a general audience of generative linguists A Milestone in Frontiers in Pharmacology: 1,000 Published Papers in the Section Experimental Pharmacology and Drug Discovery Salvatore Salomone, 2020-04-14 Frontiers in Pharmacology was launched in 2010 with a number of sections which were eventually reorganized The founding Field Chief Editor was Prof Thophile Godfraind an eminent scientist active in cardiovascular pharmacology who pioneered the discovery of calcium antagonists At that time he invited me to serve as Chief Editor for a section named Analytical and Experimental Pharmacology Later on our section enlarged and was re named as Experimental Pharmacology and Drug Discovery to outline the translational potential of fundamental pharmacological research and theoretical analysis to the improvement of human health through the invention of novel medicinal products We are now entering the 10th year of editorial activity which sees the publication of the 1 000th paper in our section Such an achievement is very rewarding for us and our community but it is even more remarkable when placed into the timeline of our development In fact in a 10 year frame we have significantly grown in quantity and quality e g both in number of published papers and in scientific impact From a personal perspective by Salvatore Salomone Specialty Chief Editor
