The Intersection of Poetry and Jungian Analysis Through Metaphor Regina Colonia-Willner, 2024-08-06 The Intersection of Poetry and Jungian Analysis Through Metaphor In Creation You Are Created explores the relationship between Jungian psychoanalytical intervention and poetry focusing on the emergence of metaphor which occurs in both processes as it happens in neuroscience and fairy tales Metaphor is a mode of communication that forms a bridge between different experience domains through associative linkages it refers to a subject by mentioning another for rhetorical effect Indeed the prominence of metaphor in Jungian therapy is a characteristic that differentiates it from other forms of treatment That s because metaphor as we will see in this book is deeply rooted in the body in two ways It is used to organize bodily sensations cognitively and is located on the border between mind and brain C G Jung uses a metaphor when he observes in Memories Dreams Reflections As far as we can discern the sole purpose of existence is to kindle a light in the darkness of mere being

Notes on Love in a Tamil Family Margaret Trawick, 2023-11-15 Love as a force in human affairs is still not given much attention or credency by social scientists With Notes on Love in a Tamil Family Margaret Trawick places the notion of love prominently in social scientific discourse Her unforgettable and profusely illustrated study is a significant contribution to anthropology and to South Asian studies Trawick lived for a time in the midst of one large South Indian family and sought to understand the multiple and mutually shared expressions of anpu what in English we call love Often enveloping the author herself changing her as she inevitably changed her hosts this family performed before the young anthropologist's eyes the meaning of anpu through poetry and conversation through the not always gentle raising of children through the weaving of kinship tapestries through erotic exchanges among women among men and across the great sexual boundary She communicates with grace and insight what she learned from this Tamil family and we discover that love is no less universal than selfishness and individualism Love as a force in human affairs is still not given much attention or credency by social scientists With Notes on Love in a Tamil Family Margaret Trawick places the notion of love prominently in social scientific discourse Her unforgettable an

Isaiah's Vision and the Family of God Katheryn Pfisterer Darr, 1994-01-01 Using a pragmatic reader orientated approach and informed by contemporary theory of metaphor and related topics Katheryn Darr examines the meaning and functions of child and female imagery for sequential readers of the Isaiah scroll in its entirety Having identified the associated commonplaces surrounding such tropes a necessary task if one is to construe the figurative language of another society and culture competently she turns specifically to rebellious child and personified city and nation imagery The Literary Currents in Biblical Interpretation series explores current trends within the discipline of biblical interpretation by dealing with the literary qualities of the Bible the play of its language the coherence of its final form and the relationships between text and readers Biblical interpreters are being challenged to take responsibility for the theological social and ethical implications of their readings This series encourages original readings that breach the confines of traditional biblical criticism

Mapping Region in Early American Writing Edward Watts, Keri Holt, John Funchion, 2015-11-15 Mapping Region in Early American Writing is a collection of essays that study how early American writers thought about the spaces around them The contributors reconsider the various roles regions imagined politically economically racially and figuratively played in the formation of American communities both real and imagined These texts vary widely some are canonical others archival some literary others scientific some polemical others simply documentary As a whole they recreate important mental mappings and cartographies and they reveal how diverse populations imagined themselves their communities and their nation as occupying the American landscape Focusing on place specific local writing published before 1860 Mapping Region in Early American Writing examines a period often overlooked in studies of regional literature in America More than simply offering a prehistory of regionalist writing these essays offer new ways of theorizing and studying regional spaces in the United States as it grew from a union of disparate colonies along the eastern seaboard into an industrialized nation on the verge of overseas empire building They also seek to amplify lost voices of diverse narratives from minority frontier and outsider groups alongside their more well known counterparts in a time when America s landscapes and communities were constantly evolving

Metamorphosis - Structures of Cultural Transformations Jürgen Schlaeger,2005      Poetic Metaphors Carina Rasse,2022-06-15 Poetry pushes metaphor to the limit Consider how many different dynamic and interconnected dimensions e g text rhyme rhythm sound and many more a poem has and how they all play a role in the ways metaphorical meaning is constructed There is probably no other genre that relies so much on the creator s ability to get his or her message across while at the same time leaving enough room for the interpreters to find out for themselves what a poem means to them what emotions and feelings it evokes and which experiences it conveys This book uses interviews questionnaires and think aloud protocols to investigate the meanings and functions of metaphors from a poet s perspective and to explore how readers interpret and engage with this poetry Besides the theoretical contribution to the field of metaphor studies this monograph presents numerous practical implications for a systematic exploration of metaphors in contemporary poetry and beyond

The Nation as a Local Metaphor Alon Confino,2000-11-09 All nations make themselves up as they go along but not all make themselves up in the same way In this study Alon Confino explores how Germans turned national and argues that they imagined the nation as an extension of their local place In 1871 the work of political unification had been completed but Germany remained a patchwork of regions with different histories and traditions Germans had to construct a national memory to reconcile the peculiarities of the region and the totality of the nation This identity project examined by Confino as it evolved in the southwestern state of Württemberg oscillated between failure and success The national holiday of Sedan Day failed in the 1870s and 1880s to symbolically commingle localness and nationhood Later the idea of the Heimat or homeland did prove capable of representing interchangeably the locality the region and the nation in a distinct national narrative and in visual images The German nationhood project was successful argues Confino because Germans made the nation into an everyday local experience through a variety of cultural forms including museums school textbooks popular poems travel guides posters and postcards But it was not unique Confino situates German nationhood within the larger context of modernity and in doing so he raises broader questions about how people in the modern world use the past in the construction of identity      Giving Voice to Stones Barbara McKean Parmenter,2010-07-05 A struggle between two memories is how Palestinian poet Mahmud Darwish describes the conflict between Palestinians and Israelis Within this struggle the meanings of land and home have been challenged and questioned so that even heaps of stones become points of contention Are they proof of ancient Hebrew settlement or rubble from a bulldozed Palestinian village The memory of these stones and of the land itself is nurtured and maintained in Palestinian writing and other modes of expression which are used to confront and counter Israeli images and rhetoric This struggle provides a rich vein of thought about the nature of human experience of place and the political uses to which these experiences are put In this book Barbara McKean Parmenter explores the roots of Western and Zionist images of Palestine then draws upon the work of Darwish Ghassan Kanafani and other writers to trace how Palestinians have represented their experience of home and exile since the First World War This unique blending of cultural geography and literary analysis opens an unusual window on the struggle between these two peoples over a land that both divides them and brings them together

Japanese and Chinese Poems to Sing J. Thomas Rimer, Jonathan Chaves, 1997 This first time English translation of the Wakan roei shu includes insightful annotations after each passage and several explanatory essays

The Hybrid Muse Jahan Ramazani, 2001-10 Postcolonial novelists such as Salman Rushdie and V S Naipaul are widely celebrated yet the achievements of these poets have been strangely neglected This work argues that these poets have dramatically expanded the atlas of English literature

Families and Family Relations Athalya Brenner, Jan Willem van Henten, 2021-12-28 STAR Studies in Theology and Religion 2 The fruits of discussion at an international gathering of biblical and other scholars interested in families in the ancient Near East are offered here This is not a collection of proceedings in the usual sense rather the essays mark a conscious joint effort to advance the discussion in the newly opened debate on families in the biblical worlds Topics discussed include the metaphor of marriage in Early Judaism the brother sister relationship in Ancient Israel Hebrew family names domesticity in Judaism kinship in the Pauline churches and women in John s Gospel The contributors include among others A van der Kooij R Hachlili G Mussies M Peskowitz P Esler S van Tilborg and R Bieringer
