

"Narrative" is a term more commonly known as "story." Narratives written for college or personal narratives, tell a story, usually to some point, to illustrate some truth or insight. Following are some tools to help you structure your personal narrative, breaking it down into parts.

Introduction

The "Hook" Start your paper with a statement about your story that catches the reader's attention, for example: a relevant quotation, question, fact, or definition.

Set the Scene Provide the information the reader will need to understand the story: Who are the major characters? When and where is it taking place? Is it a story about something that happened to you, the writer, or is it fiction?

Thesis Statement The thesis of a narrative essay plays a slightly different role than that of an argument or expository essay. A narrative thesis can begin the events of the story: "It was sunny and warm out when I started down the path"; offer a moral or lesson learned: "I'll never hike alone again"; or identify a theme that connects the story to a universal experience: "Journeys bring both joy and hardship."

Body Paragraph

"Show, Don't Tell" Good story telling includes details and descriptions that help the reader understand what the writer experienced. Think about using all five senses—not just the sense of sight—to add details about what you heard, saw, and felt during the event. For example, "My heart jumped as the dark shape of the brown grizzly lurched toward me out of the woods" provides more information about what the writer saw and felt than, "I saw a bear when I was hiking".

Supporting Evidence In a personal narrative, your experience acts as the evidence that proves your thesis. The events of the story should demonstrate the lesson learned, or the significance of the event to you.

Passage of Time Writing about the events of your experience using time chronologically, from beginning to end, is the most common and clear way to tell a story. Whether you choose to write chronologically or not, use transition words to clearly indicate to the reader what happened first, next, and last. Some time transition words are next, finally, during, after, when, and later.

Transitions In a narrative essay, a new paragraph marks a change in the action of a story, or a move from action to reflection. Paragraphs should connect to one another. For example, the end of one paragraph might be: "I turned and ran, hoping the bear hadn't noticed me", and the start of the next might be: "There are many strategies for surviving an encounter with a bear: 'turn and run' is not one of them." The repetition of words connects the paragraphs. (What does the change in verb tense indicate?)*

Conclusion

The Moral of the Story The conclusion of a narrative include the closing action of the event, but also should include some reflection or analysis of the significance of the event to the writer. What lesson did you learn? How has what happened to you affected your life now?

Judith C. Hochman, Natalie Wexler, 2017-07-27 Why you need a writing revolution in your classroom and how to lead it The Writing Revolution TWR provides a clear method of instruction that you can use no matter what subject or grade level you teach The model also known as The Hochman Method has demonstrated over and over that it can turn weak writers into strong communicators by focusing on specific techniques that match their needs and by providing them with targeted feedback Insurmountable as the challenges faced by many students may seem The Writing Revolution can make a dramatic difference And the method does more than improve writing skills It also helps Boost reading comprehension Improve organizational and study skills Enhance speaking abilities Develop analytical capabilities The Writing Revolution is as much a method of teaching content as it is a method of teaching writing There s no separate writing block and no separate writing curriculum Instead teachers of all subjects adapt the TWR strategies and activities to their current curriculum and weave them into their content instruction But perhaps what s most revolutionary about the TWR method is that it takes the mystery out of learning to write well It breaks the writing process down into manageable chunks and then has students practice the chunks they need repeatedly while also learning content

A Narrative Approach to Social Media Mourning Korina Giaxoglou, 2020-06-04 This book investigates how social media are reconfiguring dying death and mourning Taking a narrative approach it argues that dying death and mourning are shared online as small stories of the moment which are organized around transgressive moments and events with motivational participatory or connective scope Through the different case studies discussed this book presents an empirical framework for analyzing small stories of dying death and mourning as practices of sharing which become associated with specific modes of affective positioning i e modulations of different degrees of distance or proximity to the death event and the dead the networked audience s and the affective self The book calls for the study of affect as integral to narrative activity and opens up broader questions about how stories and emotion are mobilized in digital cultures for accruing audiences value social or economic and visibility It will be of interest to researchers in narrative analysis the anthropology and sociology of emotion digital communication media and cultural studies and digital death and dying

Theoretical and Clinical Perspectives on Narrative in Psychoanalysis Joye Weisel-Barth, 2020-12-21 This book is of and about psychoanalytic stories It describes the personal theoretical and cultural stories that patients and analysts bring create and modify in analytic work It shows how the joint creation of new life narratives over time results in transformed senses of self and relationship Flowing from the tradition of narrative theory these stories seek to recast the creation of analytic narratives in social contexts and contemporary relational theories They depict ongoing therapeutic process and heightened interactive events and moments that together expand personal scope and change life directions for both partners in the analytic dyad Its stories illuminate sometimes difficult and arcane analytic theory bringing the meanings and utility of theory into living action They also show how familiar emotions such as love hate envy and loneliness and active human values such as empathy generosity and good faith function in psychoanalytic interaction In short these analytic stories are useful teaching tools The narrative tales in this book address a wide range of history and emotions in both patients and analyst The patients fictionalized characters from a lifetime of analytic practice are protagonists with backgrounds of trauma loss relational and geographical dislocation but also successful adaptations and struggle toward self development Some of their stories describe intense short term work and others long term analytic relationships The subjective experience and responses of the analyst are also central parts of the analytic fictions The book will be invaluable to readers curious about psychoanalysis for therapists and especially for teachers of therapeutic issues and process
