

sequence of events which includes: arriving at a facility, going to a specific building, then seeking a floor and room number. Relating the specific sign to a larger context will yield the best results. Also, categorize signs by functional types as a method of simplifying the overall signing task.

A sign should be thought of as a large-scale headline; therefore, language should be clear and concise. Brevity is desirable in order to communicate quickly, especially to drivers of vehicles.

Placement of the sign is very important. The sign should be placed for optimum viewing distance. It is good to test these conditions by creating mockup signs out of photostats and inexpensive materials, and thus determine their effectiveness before fabricating the finished product.

Consider environmental factors when developing signage. Weather conditions should determine the material selected and the fabrication technique. Color should be chosen based on the type of Sun conditions which prevail; i.e., a dark background with reversed (white) letters will be more legible against a bright desert sky.

Use consistent message formats to create a uniform look and coordinated sign program. NASA signs should employ the flush left, ragged right format as demonstrated on these pages.
